Sect Damage $50 Hourly Since 1923

OTTAWA (UPI)—Damage caused by Sect of Peace...
"I just don't know what the solution of the Sect of Peace problem is," Sen. Reid told the Upper House. "But it isn't the appointment of a parliamentary committee. These people are against government in all forms, and a parliamentary committee would constitute government in their eyes. They wouldn't respect it and it would be totally ineffective."

Pearson Suggests

Warsaw NATO Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson proposed Wednesday night a meeting of the NATO powers and the Warsaw pact powers to seek a further easing of East-West tensions.

In a nationally televised address on the CBC, Mr. Pearson also said the time has come for NATO and for Canada as a member of NATO to re-examine its whole defence strategy.

CANNOT BE SEPARATED
Western Europe now was much better able to look after its own defence, and the Cuban crisis had shown "once again" that the security of the western hemisphere cannot be separated from that of the whole Atlantic region.

"The two should be more closely brought together in NATO than they are at present," continued the former external affairs minister, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1956 and one-time president of the United Nations General Assembly.

BULLETIN

VANCOUVER (CP)—The luxury P and O cruise liner Canberra struck a large iceberg in heavy fog near the entrance to the Strait of Juan de Fuca, about 100 miles from Seattle, early today. There were no reports of any injuries.

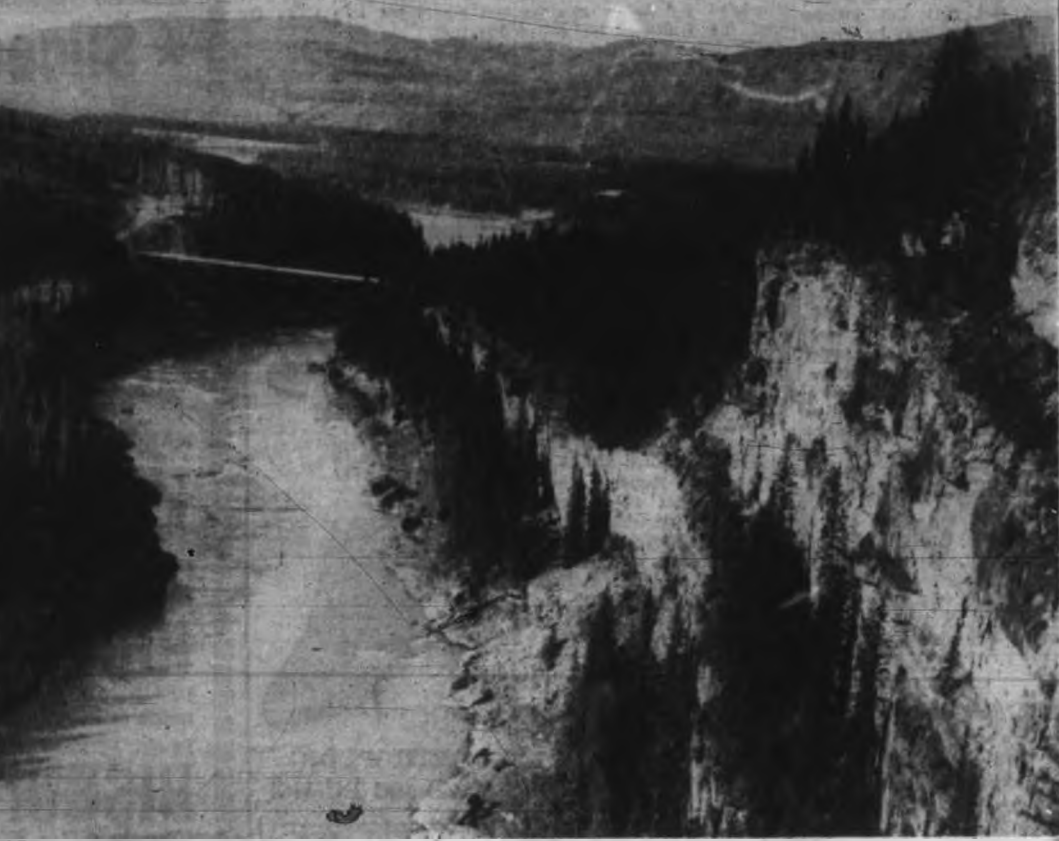

The Canberra was reported planning to anchor in English Bay to survey her for possible damage.

Nehru Drops Menon

CP from Reuters-AP

NEW DELHI—Prime Minister Nehru took over the post of defence minister from controversial V. K. Krishna Menon Wednesday amid reports of a new Indian offensive in the Red Chinese-Indian border conflict.

Krishna Menon, who was appointed to the lesser post of minister of defence production and will remain a cabinet minister, has been the target of recent criticism that Indian troops were unprepared to cope with Communist Chinese attacks.

INDIFFERENCE
The Hindustan Times said Tuesday some members of the ruling Congress party had strongly urged Nehru to replace Krishna Menon.

The paper said some members were understood to have accused Krishna Menon of negligence and indifference in his handling of the defence ministry job.

UNDERMATED
In the Independent Statesman, Peter Alvarado, a leading member of the Praja Socialist party, said Krishna Menon "either underestimated the enemy, did not understand the elements of defence, or just did not have his heart in his job."

The editorial said the coincidence with reports of a new Indian offensive in the eastern sector of the disputed 2,000-mile frontier.

Asked about reports the Chinese were shooting Indian prisoners, the spokesman said he would like to check before giving any information.

None Injured In Pipe Blast

CALGARY (CP)—A 30-foot section of the Alberta natural gas pipeline broke Wednesday night, blowing a 20-foot deep crater in a farmer's field near Innisfail, Alta.

There were no injuries in the blast. A company spokesman said the 24-inch line was operating at a pressure of 750-800 pounds per square inch.

Halloween Hectic But Mainly Sane

Greater Victoria youth turned Halloween 1962 into a rocking-and-rolling, water and bubble-bath spree last night when faced with an all-out concentration of security forces.

Up until press time this morning, police considered that the annual outburst of noise and destruction had been the same in years.

But the November dawn was expected to bring to light a rash of vandalism undiscovered under the cover of darkness.

Boy Sacrifices Toes To Save His Sister

WINNIPEG (CP)—Albert Bellis, 13, sacrificed two toes to save his sister's life.

Recovering in hospital Wednesday, he told how it happened.

He and Marcia, 9, were crossing C.P.R. tracks in central Winnipeg in early in empty box cars they had collected. With them were their brother Leonard, 2, and Kirk Bonig, 2.

"Each of us was carrying a boxcar and Kirk told us to jump over the train tracks."

The children started to crawl under a motionless string of boxcars and Albert went through first.

"When I got to the other side I heard a noise and saw the train starting to move. Marcia was still underneath and she could have been killed so I jumped back and grabbed her."

He put his foot on the track for leverage.

MISSILES OUT FRIDAY —THANT

U.S. Blockade Resumes Today

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant returned from his Cuban peace mission Wednesday night and declared he was reliably informed all Soviet missiles would be dismantled by Friday and out of Cuba soon afterwards.

The secretary-general, however, apparently had failed in his efforts to get Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to agree to any form of UN inspection to verify the removal of the missiles.

Thant's chartered plane touched down at New York's Idlewild Airport amid developments which indicated the Cuban crisis had taken a critical turn.

In his airport statement Thant made no mention of his apparent rebuff by Castro. He stressed the dismantling of the Soviet missile bases and plans for withdrawal of the missiles.

MORE QUARANTINE

Shortly before Thant's return, the White House announced that the U.S. naval arms quarantine of Cuba would be reinstated this morning and aerial surveillance of the Soviet missile sites in Cuba would start again.

In what seemed to be another emergency move, the Soviet Union sent Anastas Mikoyan, first Soviet deputy premier, on a hurried trip to Cuba via London and New York. He is due in Havana Friday.

Thant described his talks in Havana as "fruitful." He said

Southern Rhodesia UN Demands Constitution Be Annulled

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly voted overwhelmingly Wednesday night to demand annulment of Southern Rhodesia's constitution on grounds that it discriminated against Africans.

The 14-4 vote came just three minutes before 3 p.m. PST, when Southern Rhodesia's prime minister Sir Edgar Whitehead, declared the constitution, adopted in 1961, went into force.

The assembly asked Britain and Acting Secretary-General U Thant to intervene, annul the constitution and arrange for a new one which would give greater political rights to the 3,000,000 Negroes in the British territory.

Supporters of the measure said race violence would flare higher unless the Negroes obtain more than 15 seats in the 65-seat legislature. The other 50 seats would go to representatives of the 250,000 European settlers in the area.

Britain insisted in debate that have continued here for a year that Southern Rhodesia has been a self-governing territory since 1923 and that British could not interfere in Southern Rhodesia affairs.

Welensky's Party Challenged at Polls

LUSAKA (Reuters)—Negro Kenneth Kaunda, leader of the United National Independence Party, has won his seat in the Northern Rhodesian general election with a big majority over his African National Congress opponent.

This was the first general election under Northern Rhodesia's new constitution and the first in which Negro voters outnumbered whites. Observers said returns so far indicated the voting followed racial lines.

U.N.P. officials were encouraged by the surprise defeat in a predominantly Negro district—of Solomon Kalulu, national chairman of Kaunda's U.N.P.

The U.N.P. won 12 predominantly white contests for the 15 "upper roll" seats in the 45-member legislature. The U.N.P. has already won nine of the declared seats on the 15-seat "lower roll" which consists almost entirely of Negro voters.

With more than half the 44 seats decided following Tuesday's voting, the results Wednesday showed a close race between the U.N.P. and Federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky's United Federal Party.

Other parties were trailing far behind.

The U.P. won 12 predominantly white contests for the 15 "upper roll" seats in the 45-member legislature. The U.N.P. has already won nine of the declared seats on the 15-seat "lower roll" which consists almost entirely of Negro voters.

Former Jail Matron

Hang All the Dope Pedlars!

NANAIMO (CP)—Florence Hutchison, retired matron of Montreal's Protestant women's jail, says all dope pedlars—and women who lure girls into prostitution—should be hanged.

In an address to the Kl wanis Club, Mrs. Hutchison said there was no use wasting public funds building institutions for drug addicts.

"There is no such thing as a cure for them because they don't want to be cured. They suffer pains of remorse the first few days they are in prison because they can't get any more drugs.

"Once they're released they haven't gone 500 yards before someone meets them with a fresh supply."

Mrs. Hutchison, who took her penitentiary training at Holloway Jail in London, came to Canada in 1914. She retired in 1946 after serving as matron for 14 years. She moved here last year.

"When I think how some women take young girls and turn them into prostitutes I could pull the trigger myself," she told the club.

through that door tomorrow and chucked us a set of $400,000. In it we couldn't move any faster," said an engineer on the job. "We couldn't save one day."

And saving days is important — so important that the contractor on the $16,900,000 diversion tunnel job can win a $250,000 bonus by winding up his task before an August 1963 deadline — so important that for each day he goes beyond the deadline he pays a $25,000 penalty.

On Grand Scale

B.C.'s taming of the mighty Peace is development on the grand scale.

Technical people on the scene compare one aspect of it to the U.S. space program because it forces on assuming the timely solution to problems not yet altogether solved.

There is no market today for the 3,400,000 horsepower which Portage Dam will produce.

Long distance transmission lines operating at the very-high-voltage capacity envisioned in the prototype stage.

Generators of the 282,000 horsepower each called for in the Portage powerhouse have never been built.

Taken in Stride

The technical people take these matters in stride.

"Reasonably priced power has never gone begging," they say. "The Swedes and the Russians are licking the transmission problems." — "If a small generator works why won't a big one?"

This big thinking, and the B.C. power consumer might be tempted to ask if it isn't accompanied by big spending to the extent of waste and luxury.

Column to Explain Matters Other Doctors Haven't Time For

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Sir: I read your column with great interest. Why does the general medical profession hold back on practical information such as you offer? Good luck in your work — J. K.

Thank you — but I don't agree that the medical profession "holds back" on the kind of information I try to give.

DOES NOT EXPLAIN

If you have a gall bladder attack or some bursts or a polyp or maybe you turn out to be allergic to the metal in your cigarette lighter or some such strange oddity, your doctor figures out what ails you, and tells you what to do to get over it. But he does not spend 40 minutes explaining what it's all about.

So far as that goes, the old-time "family doctor" never did either. The old-time "family doctor" was a busy man. He worked too much and he slept too little (sometimes he fell asleep and let his horse take the buggy home) but he didn't have time to explain things.

EVERY MINUTE COUNTS

But he had to make every minute count. The doctor today has to do the same.

Somewhat or other I got started writing this medical column. I try very hard, by reading thousands of letters, to estimate the questions that are most prevalent.

I can't answer all the questions I receive, but I do the best I can.

The goal of this column is to try to explain the things your doctor would explain if he had the time.

SPECIALISTS GENEROUS

But I'll tell you this: Lots of doctors write suggestions to me. Specialists are most generous, to pass along things they think my readers would like to know. Those doctors can talk to only one patient at a time. I can "talk" to many thousands at once.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read in your column about the man in his 60s having an operation for prostate trouble and he is in his 80s now. I had the same operation when I was 86 and am now 92. I had the operation after 30 years of suffering. — W. H. E.

That ought to help others to make up their minds to stop suffering; don't you think?

Note to Mrs. S. S.: A hysterectomy will not prevent, nor will it interfere with sexual relations with your husband.

Except, of course, for the short time of healing after surgery. You no longer can have children, as you realize.

Thant Says Missiles Dismantled by Friday

There was agreement that the United Nations should continue its efforts to reach a peaceful settlement of the Cuban problem.

Then he said: "During my stay in Havana, I was reliably informed that the dismantling of the missiles and installations was already in progress and that this process should be completed by Friday—that is the day after tomorrow."

NO ANSWERS
"Thereafter will come the shipment and return to the Soviet Union, arrangements for which are understood to be in hand."

Thant's statement was made to reporters on his arrival from Havana. He declined to answer questions and headed immediately to UN headquarters for separate meetings with U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Vasily Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister.

Returning with the secretary-general from Havana were members of the UN secretariat and military advisers who had intended to remain in Cuba as the nucleus of the proposed inspection team.

SOVIET MOVE

British officials in London saw Mikoyan's unexpected flying trip as an effort to get Castro to comply with Premier Khrushchev's decision to pull Soviet missiles out of Cuba.

Moscow dispatches indicated one purpose of Mikoyan's visit was to remove any possible Cuban roadblocks such as a refusal to permit admission of UN inspection teams.

SNAG INDICATED
In a related development at Washington President Kennedy called off his press conference scheduled for today awaiting what the White House called clarification of the Cuban situation.

The cancellation appeared to be a clear indication that a snag had developed in the plan to dismantle the Cuban bases under UN inspection.

ALL RETURN

Shortly after Thant wound up his talks with Castro in Havana the UN announced Thant was bringing back with him his entire contingent of UN advisers.

These included the military experts he planned to leave behind as a nucleus for a UN team that would verify removal of the bases as promised by Khrushchev.

MORE TALKS

A UN communique said discussions between Thant and the Cuban government would be continued with the aim of achieving "a peaceful solution to the problem." These negotiations will take place in New York.

Pilot's Body Coming Home

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Cuban government will ship back to the United States the body of Maj. Rudolph Anderson, Jr., pilot of a reconnaissance plane which vanished last week over Cuba. UN Acting Secretary-General U Thant said on his return to New York yesterday, the Cubans had agreed to this "for humanitarian reasons."

● Bubble-bath powder was dumped into the fountain in the Roundabout mid-way in the evening. Two youths were apprehended and later released.

MAIL BOXES

Post office boxes got their fair share of juvenile attention with about a dozen reported turned over. One box at Fort and Davie had been broken open. A post office official was called to secure it.

Police answered hundreds of calls until early hours of the morning.

Labor MP Accuses Germans

LONDON (AP) — An opposition Labor party leader charged that West Germany is in the "nuclear and missile business" in Egypt and France.

Harold Wilson, the party's foreign policy critic, also asserted that West Germany is supplying aircraft to Ka-tanga, dissident Congo state, and is supplying arms to Portugal for suppression of native uprisings in Angola.

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. — A bunch of the boys were having a drink when they decided to invite a friend from the other side of the river.

So, Roy Piercy told police, he fired two shots from a .203 rifle into the cabin of Gordon Nymark. The slugs hit a wall two feet above Nymark's head, and he went to police instead. "Next time try signal flags," said the magistrate in fining Piercy, $30.

NEW YORK — Marilyn Monroe's $1,000,000 will was made public. It leaves $5,000 a year to her mother, Mrs. Gladys Baker; $2,500 a year to a friend, Mrs. Michael Chekhov, and most of the rest to Marilyn's psychiatrist, Dr. Marianne Kris, for research.

NEW YORK — Alan Pomeranz, 34, accused of masterminding the theft of $1,370,475 in securities from a Wall Street brokerage firm, pleaded guilty to one of four counts charging criminal receipt of stolen property.

VANCOUVER — Lawyer Rockmill Myers, 30, convicted of bribing an RCMP corporal for protection information, advertised his law practice for sale.

ROME — Actor Franco Silva was charged with extortion and swindle in an alleged attempt to force Anita Ekberg to make a movie with him. Police said he threatened to publish defamatory articles.

China War Catches Kremlin in Middle

LONDON (UPI) — The Kremlin has told India it must support Red China in their border dispute, but it is caught up in a painful reappraisal of its policies elsewhere as a result of the Cuban affair, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The sources believe the West will get a temporary respite from fresh Soviet policy moves.

— If the Cuban missile conflict is settled — while higher Soviet councils hold a post-mortem on Moscow's Cuban miscalculation.

Diplomats suggested the post-mortem was already in progress but Premier Khrushchev, despite probable recriminations from some Kremlin associates, remains in control. Most of the Soviet presidium and the party central committee are Khrushchev's proteges and supporters.

But the Cuban affair is expected to come up again when the central committee meets in Moscow next month.

The Soviet position on India apparently was prompted by fears that support for India could trigger an open rift between Moscow and Peking.

Russia has made it known that if New Delhi were to appeal to the UN for help, it could only side with China.

Khrushchev has let it be understood he does not want to break with India, but apparently he has no choice if it comes to a diplomatic showdown. However, it was understood the Soviets do not intend to help China militarily.

He said the Cuban crisis and the Chinese-Indian border dispute were both cases in which Communist countries had tried to improve their strategic positions by an act of power.

"It has proved that the purpose of the Communist powers is still world domination, and it does not matter to them whether the country is in a defensive alliance or whether the country is neutral, if it stands in the way of a Communist purpose."

Nuclear War Proximity Halted Reds, Says Home

LONDON (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary Earl of Home said today Russia was forced to reverse her course during the Cuban crisis when she found herself on the brink of nuclear war.

Lord Home told the annual conference of the British Institute of Directors he hoped Russia would understand now that gambling with nuclear weapons was "unforgivable" in the 20th century.

"The reason why the world today can breathe again is that the president of the United States did not fail and did not lose his head," he said.

Firefly Satellite

Blinking Anna Charts Earth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Firefly satellite with four blinking beacons zipped into orbit Wednesday to take mother earth's measurements — where she bulges, dips, her centre of gravity and distances between far-apart places.

MORE ACCURATE

The satellite will take more accurate maps of the world and gather vitally needed information for tracking future American astronauts to the moon and back.

Militarily, Anna could more precisely pinpoint location of possible enemy targets for long-range missiles. But officials considered this a secondary role.

A two-stage Thor-Able-Star rocket propelled the 355-pound sphere into a nearly perfect circular orbit about 735 miles above the earth.

Because the rocket was aimed on a northeast heading which carried the satellite over Russia, the defence department announced launching time in advance so that Soviet missile trackers would not mistake Anna for a hostile weapon.

Canada Acted Quickly Envoy Assures U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canadian Ambassador Charles Ritchie assured Americans Wednesday night that Canada had responded quickly to the Soviet missile menace in Cuba.

Seven hours before the United States put into effect its search of vessels, Canada started searching planes bound for Cuba to make certain no munitions of any kind were carried through Canada to Cuba, the ambassador said in a brief local television appearance, taped in advance.

Ritchie then read a portion of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement of last Thursday when Diefenbaker accused Russia of challenging peace in the western hemisphere by planting missiles in Cuba. At that time the prime minister told Parliament Canada "intends to support the U.S. and our allies in this situation."

The prime minister's statement followed announcement by President Kennedy that Soviet ballistic missiles had been discovered in Cuba and that a naval blockade against all offensive weapons would go into operation in the Caribbean.

TORONTO — An Ontario Hospital Association panel agreed a patient is entitled to take home his amputated leg or appendix. Canadian Hospital Association president Judge N. V. Buchanan said an Edmonton patient, a medical student, took his amputated leg for research.

CAIRO — The republican premier of Yemen, Brig. Abdullah Salal, has been appointed president of the Yemeni Arab Republic. Cairo radio said.

BROCKVILLE, Ont. — Mrs. Dolores Clow, 37, charged with embezzlement of as much as $400,000 from a car agency, returned voluntarily to stand trial.

VAN NUYS, Calif. — Comedian Lenny Bruce has been granted a delay until Nov. 8 on his preliminary hearing into a narcotics possession charge.

MONCTON, New Brunswick — The former New Brunswick minister of agriculture, C. B. Sherwood — has been named leader of the province's Progressive Conservative Party.

OAKLAND, Calif. — Charged with robbing at gunpoint men they lured into their rented cars were Jean Burks, 23, Ellen Marshall, 23, and Dolores Jackson, 30.

Ghana Protests Aid to India

LONDON (CP) — President Macmillan told Nkrumah in a letter that he found it difficult to understand Ghana's objection to India's aid to its battle against Communist Chinese invaders, and Prime Minister Macmillan promptly rejected Nkrumah's complaint.

The Ghana president, long linked with India's Prime Minister Nehru in a neutralist front, had affronted India earlier by ostentatiously refusing his support for India's cause against Red China.

Wednesday he went a step further by protesting Britain's decision to send arms to help another Commonwealth country.

India in Distress

HAVING reduced the tensions of Cuba diplomatic anxiety is now focused on India, where at the extremities of its border-line disputes with Red China the Indian troops have lost the earliest clashes of this unprovoked aggression.

Consistent with the rally behind India of her supporting friends Communist China's bid for entry into the United Nations has been again turned down, this time by a greater margin than before. Peking may not have expected the UN to be ready to seat Red China but her ruthless invasion of India made the turn-down inevitable.

Indian forces have been set back all along the line but resistance is said to be stiffening and deployment on the plains should be to their advantage. Military aid is being rushed by Britain and the United States, with Canada also contributing from its limited resources, and opinion among the Asian and Middle East nations is hardening against China.

If Soviet Russia stays out of active participation, which is likely, the present Sino-Indian conflict may well be held to the scale of a brush war of border incidents, without a major and dangerous spread of engagement.

Meantime the political axe has fallen on Krishna Menon, the grey eminence of Indian defence policies and the past defender of Communist nations. His friends in China have let him down badly and he pays the price by losing his ministry. Prime Minister Nehru, equally guilty of over-neutralism but India's undisputed and revered leader, has taken personal charge of defence activities.

A strange factor in the situation is the attitude of Pakistan, which has objected to arms support of India, no doubt in the hope that Indian embroilment with China might react to its advantage in its long dispute over the Kashmir region. A study of the map indicates that Pakistan probably would be next to suffer Chinese encroachment were India unable to defend her territory.

India has been unrealistic about Red China and its intentions, as Mr. Nehru admitted, but she showed more precipitancy than most UN nations in favoring Peking's admission to the UN in spite of the Chinese invasion of her mountain areas. India should be able if materially backed by UN member states finally to halt the Chinese advances, but short of mounting an all-out operation to recover her lost territory, and perhaps not even then, settlement of this border dispute will depend on negotiation. There is little prospect in this respect while Peking is kept beyond the pale and thus beyond the avenues of diplomatic approach and influence.

Meanwhile it is imperative that India be secured against further military setback by the wholehearted support of her Commonwealth and Western Allies.

Politics in Sports

INTERNATIONAL sports boards are expressing dismay at the growing incursion of politics into the athletic realm. Well they may, although politics in the form of national prestige is now in the forefront of all international sports competition.

But the concern deals with the direct intervention which bars some teams or athletes at various meets on purely political grounds. On numerous occasions competitors have been refused travel visas or otherwise prevented from entry because of national outlook or ideology.

It is a petty business, after all. Athletes or games players bent on representing their countries don't indulge while in other countries in espionage or proselytism; they have enough to do to concentrate on their fitness and physical skills. They are harmless in this respect and thus far barred the victims of needless political spite.

In the original Olympiads of old, Grecian states at war proclaimed a sacred truce before each Games, and men came from all parts of the Grecian world to meet and compete in friendship and amity. Something of this spirit was supposed to be invoked when the modern Olympiads began in 1896, and to be implicit in all international sports meets.

In a world bedevilled by political differences sports at this level should be an influence for good; animosities are instead kept alive by preventing the entry of all comers no matter the political nature of their home states.

Dangerous Transition

THE SUDDEN transition from light to darkness during the rush hour for homeward-bound traffic—sudden because of the switch last weekend from daylight saving to standard time—has created a special danger for pedestrians and drivers in just the same way as streets made slippery by the first fall rains after a dry summer always impose a special hazard. Some motorists, and some pedestrians, seem unable to adjust quickly to the new conditions.

Thus in the last few evenings it has been by no means uncommon to see rush-hour drivers pressing ahead in as much haste and impatience and with as little foresight, even on those main thoroughfares that still lack adequate street lighting despite the increasing loads of traffic they are carrying, as if the streets were still flooded with autumn sunshine. Not uncommon, for that matter, to see pedestrians in dark clothing and cyclists without lights, even hitch-hikers standing in the traffic-lanes, unnecessarily risking their own lives and the safety of others.

It has been pleasing under these circumstances to note that the city police have been active along the major routes. Even if they have no hope of catching all offenders, their presence seems to keep traffic moving at a generally safer pace and with less lane-switching and signal-racing than would be the case if they were absent.

But the situation demands more than that. It requires that every driver use the utmost caution, even if this means arriving home two or three minutes later; it requires that every pedestrian and cyclist recognize how difficult it is to see a person on foot or on a bicycle in a comparatively dark street, especially when opposing headlights are dazzling and confusing; it requires that all concerned consider whether "rights" in traffic are worth lives.

And perhaps more than a sprinkling of exemplary prosecution would be worth while at this season to bring these considerations to the fore.

Thinking Aloud

By TOM TAYLOR

SCAR Wilde said that laughter wasn't a bad beginning for a friendship, nor for ending one as a matter of fact.

I thought of this, after looking him up, while absorbing a wirephoto of U. Thant's aides gathered at an airport to accompany him to Cuba. There were three of them, Brazilian, Indian and Arabian staff officers of the UN. And they were laughing heartily as though bound for a picnic. Looking at them you wouldn't ever imagine they were off to stop a war, roughly their aim.

Such lightness of heart was unexpected after the gleam that gave rise to their journey. And I hope it proved infectious. I can't ever recall seeing a picture of Castro smiling, but this could be because of his beard. Beards do funny things to people if they only knew it, and possibly Castro can smile too.

A smile isn't quite a laugh but as with friendship it's a good beginning; it can transform very easily into a laugh. And it's hard to laugh and snarl at the same time.

Perhaps diplomats should cultivate laughter; real hearty enjoyment. Certainly it would lighten up UN discussions. For instance, often most lugubrious affairs. A wicker crack, a humorous aside, even a pun, ordinarily apt to bore if it isn't clever, might work wonders in that austere assembly.

It couldn't help but dilute the solemnity all too prevalent.

Now supposing Mr. Krushchev told Mr. Kennedy a funny story if and when they meet in a summit tete-a-tete. Or vice-versa, although I fancy NK is more prone to making jokes than JFK, who wears rather a serious mien these days and no wonder. Who would want his job? But a shared laugh is a fine start to anything and increases the chances of good will.

I heard a speaker a week ago tell of the good-neighbor projects he directs in faraway places, where natives suspect foreigners who come offering to help them. For nothing. This doesn't seem natural, so they are not easily won over.

But it was soon clear why this speaker's mission was a success. He was a man of the cloth but he belied the sober face attributed, often quite wrongly, to those of his profession. Time and again he made his audience laugh by the humor of his observations.

He was not a joker, but he had the sense of laughter in him and this was com munitable. He couldn't then fail to put the natives he ministers to in a good mood.

Now of course all the world's problems aren't going to be solved by comedy, or even by funny stories. But why does an MC opening a program try to raise a few laughs? To make his audience receptive to what follows.

I think diplomats might well take Oscar Wilde to heart.

Troops in the firing line can chuckle and enjoy lightness of heart even in the face of danger. Warring off a war shouldn't be more forbidding than its actual experience.

I was glad anyway that U. Thant's aides seemed to think so.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

A BOOK that seems to me to belong on the shelves of every Canadian is "The Voyageur," by Grace Lee Nute, published in 1955 by the Minnesota Historical Society in St. Paul. The author, a professor of history, presents a documented picture of the French-Canadians, not a handful of them, but thousands of them, who actually peopled what we have been taught to think of as the unexplored wilderness of the Canadian West and North a century before the famous explorers of the late seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries made their historic journeys.

History as well as fiction has accustomed us to the "coureur de bois." Professor Nute, quietly proves that they were second-class citizens. The true occupants of the wilderness of the late 1600 and early 1700s were the voyageurs. By the time Wolfe led his Highlanders off the cliff, there were in the neighborhood of 5,000 voyageurs plying the solid packed trails of northern and western Canada in a traffic as well established as were the railroads and highways in due course. Thousands of French-Canadians, scattered all over the Great Lakes and the Mississippi watershed. In "The Voyageur," we have countless Canadians who outdare the Davy Crocketts and Daniel Boones for sheer romance and inspiration. What do you suppose is the reason English-speaking Canadian readers have been deprived of the facts and figures available to Professor Nute?

"I may still have to rely on reckless inaction."

Prophetic Utterances

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

THE warm loyalty with which friendly allied states have rallied to the side of the United States during the Cuban crisis must be the subject of some wistful thinking to a good many highly-placed persons in Britain and France, which were among the first to rally.

The Suez crisis, which bears an astonishing resemblance to the Cuban affair in many particulars, broke with dramatic suddenness on July 26, 1956, when Mr. Gamal Abdel-Nasser, president of Egypt, announced that the Suez Canal had been nationalized and the Canal Zone placed under martial law. The presidential decree posed a grave threat to the security of a large part of the world's seaborne commerce.

Directly concerned were Britain and France which, together, had long controlled the operations of the company and whose ships were prime users of the canal.

British and French concern was not lessened by the fact that President Nasser, still insecure in office, was carrying on a bribe flirtation with Moscow and the Communist world. Some of the Russian aid given or promised was designed to improve economic conditions in a hitherto backward state. But a surprisingly heavy proportion of the equipment flowing from Eastern Europe to Egypt was military equipment, including modern jet aircraft, tanks and rocket launchers. Nasser's preoccupation with the procurement of arms on a very large scale encouraged the suspicion, created by the Egyptian dictator's own ringing declaration that he planned to establish a new military empire in the Middle East.

New alliances with other Arab states increased tension in the new state of Israel, surrounded by hostility.

A whole series of negotiations held that summer and early fall designed to resolve the dispute went nowhere. They ended with a Soviet veto applied in the UN Security Council. The result was complete deadlock.

The crisis continued to attract headlines and public attention in Britain, France, Egypt, Israel and Russia—right through this period. But the rest of the world took little interest. The U.S. government dismissed it as a matter of little importance. And Ottawa was convinced that its importance was exaggerated.

On Oct. 23, Egypt, Syria and Jordan signed a military unified command under Egyptian leadership.

"Middle class means we have too much to get rid and not enough to pay our bills!"

Painful Awakening

By GUY WINT

THE direction of the million Chinese attack on India can have a baleful meaning. The McMahon Line, where the main offensive fell, differs from the Ladakh salient, which is the other disturbed region. Ladakh is a cul de sac; an offensive there, even if successful initially, must peter out. A victory in these massive heights cannot lead anywhere. But the McMahon Line includes an avenue to India. Though to traverse it with a full scale invasion force would be a major feat of arms, it has been shown that it is not inconceivable to Chinese troops.

A short time has there fore transformed the prospects before India. The area so far fought over has been comparatively small. But there has suddenly fallen across all North India, especially across Assam, the shadow of the Chinese army. It is realized that they could arrive accompanied by tanks and the bulky accoutrements of a modern army.

It is, as yet, a shadow only. The Chinese are ambiguous; they have scarcely revealed an ambition to conquer very large territories. Their moves are consistent with advancing by some miles of barren territory their frontier with India, and stabilizing it in its new position. Ethnologically, if not legally, their case for a modern frontier revision is not so bad. The people of NEFA—the North-East Frontier Agency—are more akin to the Mongoloid people of the Tibetan frontier than to the settled Hindus further south.

But the Chinese, in making their attack, have shown that they can go further if they wish. India, like Othello, must sigh for the opium which might procure it "that deep sleep which it owed yesterday."

This sudden breaking in of reality upon the Indian scene has brushed away some of the presupposition of Asian politics. Mr. Nehru has himself admitted that India has been "out of touch with reality."

It has been shocked out of the artificial atmosphere of our own creation. A searching light is turned upon Indian affairs and Indian neutralism. A country is in a very invidious position which proclaims itself neutralist but which has not the strength to make it improbable that it will be itself attacked. While there may be general agreement with India's previous policy of constructive neutrality, it is obviously harder for India to operate if it is wily-nilly in the arena fighting for its basic international rights.

The Indian government has been buoyed up for many years by the prestige of the Indian army, which was created by its predecessor. It was that which gave the illusion of settled strength. A few days' fighting, a rout in the mountains, and a question mark has appeared over the efficiency of the army.

It is certainly a mistake to draw conclusions from one action in difficult terrain, engaging only a fraction of India's total force. In the Assam Indian troops will appear to much better advantage; the Chinese, if they pursue them there, will have to defend long and precarious lines of communication. But a doubt has been sown and the doubts fit into the pattern of misgivings over India's campaign to suppress the Nagas, in which 40,000 troops have been needed to make headway against less than 5,000 Nagas. The campaign in Hyderabad and Goa, which went like clockwork, were against effete opponents.

It is not likely that the war will be prolonged or that very dramatic events will happen. But a twist—a fatal twist—may have been given at all points to India's evolution. India has held the imagination of Asia by its zeal and determination to beat down the extreme poverty which strangles it. Its series of economic plans, executed within a framework of liberal government, has had a magical attractive force. But the three five-year plan may be one of the most lamentable casualties. India, compelled to give increasing attention to satisfy the needs of its army, may do so at the expense of civilian needs.

To the various factors which have to be calculated in India's democratic system, there must now be added a new one, a strained national sentiment. Politics will take place under the shadow of possible war, with the constant need to appear strong. The attitude at Delhi will become tougher; there will not be room for some of the personalities of the past. The Kashmir will have new implications.

The political cloakroom, surveying what has happened in the past week, may turn away saddened. India, reborn 15 years ago and dedicated to non-violence, with a government with a correct scale of values, eschewing the pursuit of glory and giving proper priority to its peoples' welfare, has been led into a wasteful conflict on a boundary dispute of classical simplicity.

The land which is the subject of the quarrel is barren. It is a suicidal conflict. But it has engaged the national passion of both Indian and Chinese.

It is hard to see how the struggle could have been avoided, unless India had followed Gandhian methods of government unprecedented in the world. Man is everywhere the creature of international circumstance, which has him firmly in its grip, however good may be an individual system of government, however modest and correct the political behavior.

Washington Calling

Political Consequences

By MARQUE CHILDS

LAST weekend President Kennedy was supposed to be barnstorming up and down the state of California in behalf of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Whether he did Brown—and the other Democratic candidates in close contest—more good by standing at the helm as the leader of the nation in a grave crisis is being anxiously debated by the politicians.

They have not been saying much about this out loud, since against the background of the threat of war it was very small beer indeed. Moreover, with the crisis precipitated by the president's action in Cuba the prevailing attitude has been to rally behind the commander-in-chief and to brush partisanship under the nearest rug.

But politics, like murder, will out. The president had

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British investigators announced it had been "proven as conclusively as possible" that Adolf Hitler was 37 years ago today in 1925. It was found the Nazi dictator had died April 30, 1945, in the chancellery bunker in Berlin as the Soviet army overran the city. The inquiry reported Hitler died by his own hand or was executed on his own command. The body had been burned in a gasoline pyre.

1856—A disaster in the No. 2 mine at Springhill, N.S., took 39 lives.

1858—Queen Victoria was proclaimed sovereign throughout India.

hardly finished speaking when certain of his more cynical critics were saying that the timing of the crisis had been dictated by political considerations since the intelligence on the Cuban missile bases had long been in hand.

This president's security and political advisers strongly deny. Even the most knowledgeable Republican on the Cuban question, Senator Kenneth Keating of New York, has declined to say that the announcement of the blockade, with all the buildup of secrecy leading up to it, was politically timed.

On October 10 Keating told the Senate that he had information from a source of questionable authenticity that missile bases were being built in Cuba by Soviet technicians which would be ready for firing within six months. He erred on the conservative side, he now explains, because his source was not able to establish that the missiles were already at the prepared sites.

What he does charge is that the administration possessed that same information, and more, and could not decide what to do with it because of conflicting advice. So the whole matter was held up until a definite policy could be revealed. In the meantime, there were denials—incorrect denials, according to Keating—which he particularly resents.

On the over-all effect of the president's dramatic move Keating along with most Republicans believes the advantage will accrue to the Democrats. It takes Cuba out of the campaign to the disadvantage of many Republican candidates who were making full use of it. The impression in the country is of a firm policy and only a few specialists will recall that Keating and others in the opposition were the first to point to the danger.

From the perspective of the White House this naturally has a different look. To begin with, the president and his principal political advisers had concluded that Cuba was simply not a factor. They say the polls, both public and private, supported this conclusion.

In the campaigning he did up until he used the pretext of a cold to fly back to Washington and take command of the crisis, the president referred only once to the Cuban threat. That was in Indiana where Homer Capehart, a Republican, running for reelection, had made it the end-all and be-all of his campaign. The Democratic challenger, 34-year-old Birch Bayh, had asked the president to tell Capehart off on Cuba. With this exception the president campaigned entirely on earthy domestic issues.

As to the drama of the blockade and the tense hours that followed, the appraisals in the White House believe it will help those who already hold office—Republican as well as Democrat. Voter attitudes will be frozen. In the White House view some advantage may accrue to Democrats insofar as party workers are stimulated to support the president and therefore work harder to get out the vote. This applies to members of Congress but whether it cuts the same way for the governorships, where many democrats are in trouble, is another matter.

BACKGROUND

Fidel Castro, bearded dictator of Cuba, has taken his biggest knock in popularity since he came down from the hills four years ago as hero of the revolution.

There is bewilderment, growing resentment and annoyance among Cubans over what is slowly being regarded as the biggest setback and letdown by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. For five days I was a prisoner in the stinking, flea-ridden jail in the centre of Havana's slums, behind the facade of Cuba's chief emigration office.

Two days ago, after vigorous protest from the British Embassy, I was released but ordered not to leave my hotel until I drove to the airport.

I chose to ignore this order and mingled freely with Cubans in one-time smart restaurants, bars and cafes.

But one of Castro's security men caught up with me and thereafter I was confined to my hotel under the threat of further arrest, followed by an unspecified charge.

But what an astonishing change has come over the Cuban scene in these seven days.

When I landed, a "Xanqui" invasion was expected at any moment. I was seized roughly, driven into a black maria and 20 minutes later was in dark solitary confinement. The whole building was stocked with armed men and women carrying Czech and Russian tommy-guns. On the way to jail I saw tanks and armored cars drawn up in some of the side streets. And in prison the guards—all members of Cuba's secret police, the G-2—were arrogantly trigger-happy.

The turning point came after I had been in jail three days and Khrushchev had made it clear he was backing down. I was allowed to see newspapers, which, too, reflected the change in thinking.

For earlier papers wrote bombastically: "Cuba no esta solo." Cuba is not alone—and this was illustrated with pictures of Russian troops on the march. In later papers, however, these pictures disappeared.

The guards became friendly and when a Swedish and Canadian journalist were jailed, they were given kid-glove treatment.

The Swede was released the same evening, and the Canadian the next morning. "We like the Canadian," said the warden.

It was a change for me to be called Mister instead of as at the beginning—"You son of a bitch Englishman."

Originally, Cuban officials denied emphatically to the British Embassy that I was in jail. Enquiries by the British consul got a blank stare.

But the Swede, to whom I spelt my name phonetically in German by shouting it down the corridor from my cell, provided proof to the British consul I was in fact under arrest.

The border lies in the almost inaccessible centre of Asia, behind the Himalayas and the Karakoram, the world's two highest mountain ranges. There Pakistan controls the northern part of Kashmir, facing China's Sinkiang province.

Kashmir itself is in dispute. India angrily denies that Pakistan has any right to negotiate part of the Kashmir border. Pakistan says it needs to define the area of its responsibility under a UN cease-fire between it and India over Kashmir and the permanent border settlement can be worked out when the status of Kashmir is finally settled.

U.S. Election 'Marginals'

Only 100 Ridings Vital

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nov. 6 election battle for control of the United States House of Representatives will be fought in 435 congressional ridings but probably will be decided in fewer than 100.

It's on these close districts that the political pros are concentrating their fire, and in which overtures are most likely.

Most of them are classified as marginal districts because the winners in 1960, as well as in many previous elections, barely squeaked through. Congressional redistribution since 1960 has added areas to the key list and has removed others.

In more than 300 constituencies, the politicians have counted their chickens in advance on the assumption that the outcome will follow traditional patterns.

The mathematical situation is that the Republicans must score a bare majority of 218 in the new house. Only the optimists in the Republican high command expect that to happen. The pre-election claims of the realists are for as many as China, meantime, has stepped up its trade with many Asian countries, particularly Japan. The recent trade fair at Canton is said to have attracted Japanese orders worth millions of dollars.

Peking also is trying to improve its foreign exchange position by persuading the millions of overseas Chinese to step up their remittances to the mainland.

Canadians Still on Patrol

The Six-Year Hitch

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Six years after the Suez crisis—the Anglo-French attack on Egypt following the Israeli invasion of Egypt—Canadians still patrol the desert border between Israel and Egypt for the United Nations.

There is not even an inkling that this task is near completion, or, indeed, whether it will ever be finished. Since the 1956 crisis, the 5,300-man UN Emergency Force operates, against a backdrop of the thin blue-and-white UN colors, the 800 Canadian soldiers and 90 Canadian airmen in UNEF—roughly the original number contributed by Canada—doing desert patrols, handling signals, transporting personnel, fixing vehicles and the like. They serve one year in the Middle East.

The reconnaissance squadron of the 105th Canadian Parachute Battalion had the duty and the business for nearly the last year, keeping watch among the sand dunes for any incident along the border.

Canadians also comprise the UNEF engineer company, the 36th signals squadron, No. 36 transport company, the UNEF ordnance company and a maintenance workshop. Other Canadian troops represented in UNEF are the medical, dental, pay, provost and postal.

Outside the armored unit of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, the Canadians basically do the housekeeping for the entire international force.

To the Crisis from Inside Cuba

By Colin Lawson

A special correspondent of the London Daily Express, who entered Cuba after the missile crisis flared up, Lawson, who spent five days in a Cuban jail, wrote this article in his hotel room just before catching the first flight from Havana to Mexico since regular plane services were restored.

And late on Sunday night the consul arrived with the head of protocol and the chief immigration officer—two youngsters dressed in uniforms and each carrying a Russian tommy-gun.

I was freed. Since my release I have uncovered enough information to indicate Castro knew some time ago that Washington was planning a showdown with Khrushchev. For mass arrests started throughout Cuba two weeks ago. Every jail in the country is full.

The biggest surprise I experienced on release was the change in atmosphere compared to that when I was arrested.

Discreetly, but nevertheless with emphasis, many Cubans showed their feelings. One or two badge-carrying members in conversation were not going so far as to say Khrushchev had let them down but the shrug of shoulders and the pursed lips of hands were just as eloquent signs.

I asked one man: "What is now going to happen?" He said: "Khrushchev's attitude has upset us." But he refused to be drawn further.

That reliable barometer of opinion, the taxi driver, was more open.

I drove 18 miles out to Miramar residential suburb to a cocktail party. And the cabby, after an American cigarette, opened up to say: "We thought Castro had a friend. It seems we were wrong, and now Cuba is on her own."

My hotel, the luxurious Capri, is filled with East Germans and Czech technicians. The Germans are no longer popular, but the Czechs in Cuba on the other hand are well-liked.

The Russians are rarely seen. I learned that when they started to arrive by the hundreds in jets from Moscow, dozens of villas in the one-time millionaire suburb of Miramar were seized.

Their occupants were summarily turned out and the villas and contents, including radios, TV sets, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and personal belongings were handed to the new tenants.

At first, I was told, this was accepted as the right thing to do for Big Brother. Now, it is rebounding and Cubans are asking why Russians should have preferential treatment over East bloc satellite engineers, technicians and specialists.

Previously Russians, I was told, could be seen driving daily by bus to work in bases—no one here calls them missile bases.

Since the crisis, a single Russian has been seen driving into the country.

And last night came perhaps an even more significant event. For the first time I saw a mass of Chinese.

No one will talk of them but when I slipped into the National Hotel for a drink an inside dining room was packed with them.

There are also a dozen staying in the Capri Hotel. During a tour of the shopping centre I saw how rundown the Cuban economy has become.

On my last visit here two years ago the shops were still filled with goods, restaurants served excellent meals, the public transport and private cars still retained a capitalist flavor.

Now, however, Cuba's economic conditions are worse than any I have seen in any Communist country—and that goes for Albania, too.

Windows are bare of goods, the big American cars are run down. A few Czech buses have been imported, but the fleet cannot cope with the traffic.

Some Chinese silk is coming in but it is scarce and the price is eight pesos a yard—is too stiff for any Cuban's pocket-book.

The cost of living has jumped so rapidly that a dollar will fetch 21 pesos, against the official one-to-one rate.

Castro, it is felt here, is bound to face attacks from his own party. For it is no secret that many of them advocated a "Nasser-like" policy of "positive neutrality," arguing that they could get help from both East and West.

Meanwhile, Havana is a city with the jitters. Troops are everywhere. Almost everyone carries a gun and Russian jeeps dash around on endless security checks. In spite of Kennedy's apparent tacit understanding with Khrushchev that no force will be used against Cuba, the Cubans insist they must be ready to repel an invasion.

In fact, invasion has now become psychologically implanted in the Cuban mind. But if I were Kennedy, I would try to cash in on the situation. It needs careful preparation and diplomacy of the highest order to sound out the Castro regime.

Asian Brew

Tempest 'Potted'

By DON HUTH

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—A political tempest is brewing in Southeast Asia but the chances are it will stay in the teapot.

The Philippines generated it by laying claim to North Borneo, a tropical British colony of 29,388 square miles and about 500,000 population.

Britain has pottily, but firmly, told the Philippines there is no foundation for the claim. It has declined to negotiate the issue because it says there is nothing to negotiate on the territory it has held for nearly 100 years.

The British have other plans for North Borneo. They intend to see the colony become part of a new confederation, Malaysia, to be formed next year. Malaysia would include Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak, Brunei and North Borneo.

The Philippines stand little chance of getting anywhere with their claim and president Diosdado Macapagal's government apparently knows it. But they stand even less chance of getting anywhere with Tunku Abdul Rahman, the prime minister of Malaya and architect of the Malaysia plan. He will not be drawn into the dispute.

He says the Philippines' claim to North Borneo is a matter between it and the British government. At the same time he has made it clear he expects North Borneo to be one of the partners in the new Malaysia by its own choice.

The Philippines has received nothing but criticism from the prospective members of Malaysia. The bitterest critics have been in North Borneo itself.

How far will the Philippines, a strongly anti-Communist country, go in pressing its claim—the United Nations, the World Court, war?

It all depends on how far the Philippines wants to go in losing friends and alienating people, a neutral diplomat says. "The Tunku is a determined man when it comes to Malaysia. The Philippines underestimates him if it does not realize this. Malaysia could be a strong buffer against Communist encroachment in Southeast Asia. The Tunku is not going to see his aims upset."

"WHAT THE GOLD CREST FUNERAL PLAN MEANS TO YOU"

The story behind Canada's first prepaid funeral expense insurance plan.

Many people ask about the Gold Crest Funeral Plan. Now it is the first such insurance plan in Canada, people naturally are curious. They almost always ask the same question, "What's the difference between the Gold Crest Plan and other plans?"

"There's a big difference," they are told, "a big difference." And these are the six facts that help them—and you—find the answers about prepaid funeral expenses:

(1) First, The Gold Crest Plan is insurance. That's right, insurance. And as you know, insurance is designed to give you cash in an emergency. Death is an emergency. You make only small regular payments to maintain your coverage. This is also how The Gold Crest Plan works. It provides you with the cash you'll need to meet the costs of final illness and burial of someone in your family.

(2) The plan is NOT a sales gimmick. The representative that calls at your door does not sell cemetery lots or tombstones. He does not recommend vault-makers or funeral directors. He presents insurance and insurance only.

(3) The plan is guaranteed. It is underwritten by the Seaboard Life Insurance Company that carries required cash reserves. Your funds are protected by law.

(4) The plan is stable. Seaboard alone has $1 million in paid up capital and over $200,000 on deposit with the Provincial Department of Insurance.

(5) This same Dept. of Insurance licenses all Gold Crest representatives. And each and every Gold Crest representative is bonded. Only this plan can offer such ironclad financial security.

(6) Prepaid funeral expense insurance is accepted. It has been sold throughout the United States. It has been extremely well-received there. Why? Simply because it is the commonsense, businesslike way to plan ahead instead of waiting to make these difficult decisions during a period of stress and worry.

In a nutshell, the plan guarantees you $300 to $5,000 with your first small payment. It is good anywhere in the free world. It's available to you until you are 90 years old. You may choose any funeral director, any burial lot, and ceremony. You consult with your own funeral director for arrangements. Gold Crest only see that you're able to make your decisions calmly and with peace of mind.

Every family should get the details of this plan, today. You'll find sound counsel from the Gold Crest Plan. Investigate it today by mailing in this coupon.

Ganges Skindivers Make Starfish Haul

GANGES—Sport, profit and benefit to local oyster beds all resulted from a novel, two-hour starfish competition held recently in Booth Bay by the local Fathom Phantom skindiving club.

Nine divers gathered 1,347 starfish while their six fellow members assisted with the boats and ashore. The starfish were sold locally for fertilizer.

Club president Don Irwin won first prize with 307 starfish, Steve LaFortune was second with 301 and Lyle Brown third with 275. Largest starfish, brought in by Bernard Reynolds, weighed six pounds, two ounces. Another competition is planned for December.

Night of Fun Nightmare For Little Girl

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hal-loween became a nightmare for a young trick-or-treater when she was abducted by a man under cover of heavy fog Wednesday night.

Lynn Fleming, 8, turned up safely a mile from her home as police and outraged citizens searched for her.

Dressed in a dainty fairy costume, the little girl knocked on the door of Larry Bredon's home.

had a jolly round in the city last night handing over some of the better buildings to the government in power.

A sign reading "This firm has been expropriated by W. A. C. Bennett" was stenciled on such prominent buildings as the CPR wharf, Black Ball Ferry building, The B.C. Telephone Company building.

The sign painters were headed off just as they went to stencil the Colonist building... after all there's a limit!

Shotgun Discharge Kills Island Hunter

DENMAN ISLAND—A 54-year-old Denman Island man died Tuesday when his 12-gauge shotgun discharged as he climbed through a wire fence, shooting him in the throat.

He was William Arthur Kelsey, married and the father of a son. A coroner's inquiry will be held into the death.

Kelsey left his home at 2 a.m. to shoot crows. His body was found by a neighbor about 1:30 p.m. who investigated when Mrs. Kelsey became worried at her husband's long absence.

Teachers, Trustees Favor Basic Salary

LADYSMITH—Joint salary committee of the Vancouver Island Teachers Association and the Vancouver Island Trustees Association arrived at a basic salary schedule for 1963 at a meeting in Quinell School at Nanaimo.

This announcement was made at the District 67 School Board office here yesterday by trustees Alex Smith, meeting chairman.

The schedule now goes before each school district for approval. Figures will be released after such approval is given. The committee will meet again Tuesday to discuss possible joint agreement on other items contained in the salary schedule.

The decision affects all of the island except Greater Victoria.

FATHER DE ROO... from Manitoba

Young Westerner New Bishop Of Local Catholics

The spiritual leader of Greater Victoria's Roman Catholics will be consecrated as bishop of this diocese in his home diocese of St. Boniface, Man., a cathedral spokesman said yesterday.

Announcement of the appointment of Father Remi de Roo, parish priest of the Church of the Holy Cross in St. Boniface was made from Vatican City yesterday.

As pastor of St. Boniface, a parish of 2,000, he was assisted by three other priests in serving the English-speaking Catholics of Norwood, a suburb of St. Boniface.

He founded and still directs a magazine, Inquiry Forum, for exchanges of opinion with non-Roman Catholics, and is director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, an organization which teaches Christian doctrine to both adults and children.

He studied philosophy and theology at St. Boniface and later attended the Angelicum University at Rome, where he received his doctorate in theology.

He served as secretary to the archbishop of St. Boniface and executive secretary of the Manitoba Catholic Conference.

He is expected to take over his duties here in about two months.

At the same time, Ald. Michael Griffin, prominent Catholic layman, paid tribute on behalf of the laity in the diocese to Father O'Connell for his work as vicar capitular.

"The office which Father O'Connell filled in such a superb manner called for diplomacy of the highest order. He achieved this in a most distinguished manner," said Ald. Griffin.

At 38, Father de Roo will be one of the youngest bishops in Canada and the first of Victoria's 14 bishops to be born in Western Canada.

He is expected to take over his duties here in about two months.

Pickersgill Hails Himself

OTTAWA (UPI)—Liberal front-bencher Jack Pickersgill's enthusiasm for political debate caused him an embarrassing moment in the House of Commons yesterday.

He got so carried away with an argument he presented that he applauded himself.

The incident occurred after Speaker Marcel Lambert ruled out a question by Paul Tardif on the appointment of a member of the Board of Broadcast Governors on grounds it was not suitable for the daily oral question period.

Mr. Pickersgill jumped to his feet to defend Tardif on grounds the question amounted to a simple query whether "the government has broken the law."

When Mr. Pickersgill sat down, the Liberal members pounded their desks in approval. So, in fact, did Mr. Pickersgill, producing:

• A comment by Mr. Lambert on the Liberal MP's "general enthusiasm."

• An apology from Mr. Pickersgill to the Speaker for "inadvertently applauding myself."

• Applause from the Conservative benches the next four times Mr. Pickersgill rose from his seat.

It may, however, have been worth the embarrassment. Secretary of State Ernest Halpenny answered Tardif's question.

Police Start New Tickets

City police yesterday began using courtesy warning tickets which give traffic offenders a second chance, but seldom a third.

The scarlet tickets will be issued for many minor traffic infractions but a duplicate will be filed at police headquarters.

Each time a ticket is issued its duplicate is checked against records and if it is found a similar warning was given in the past 12 months a charge might follow.

Honor Guard Greets Pacific Commander

A guard of honor will welcome the new flag officer, Pacific Coast, to his command at 9:15 a.m. today in front of the Admiral's Building at HMC Dockyard.

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landy, more takes over command from Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, who is retiring after 36 years of naval service.

While the flags of the two rear admirals fly over HMC Dockyard the change of command will take place.

Admiral Finch-Noyes, senior naval officer here since June 30, 1960, took his successor on a familiarization tour yesterday.

It included Rocky Point magazine and VU33 Utility Squadron at Patricia Bay, maritime command headquarters at Dockyard and all of Dockyard and Naden.

U.S. Missile Bases Peppered by Rifles

A spokesman said the Federal Bureau of Investigation is investigating each incident.

Dickens Yule On Again

The Dickens Christmas program in Oak Bay Village will definitely be repeated this year, Donald Whyte, president of the Oak Bay Board of Trade, said last night.

He said the retail merchants group at the board is just beginning preparations for the program, to take place a couple of weeks before Christmas with an old English Christmas theme.

Some sort of ride for children, such as a coach and horses, is planned, he said.

He said the merchants have ambitious plans for decoration of the village.

The Dickens Christmas program was a big success last year when it was introduced.

Cod Warning: Minimum Size

Federal fisheries officers yesterday warned that the minimum size fishermen may keep ling cod is three pounds, dressed, with head off, which means that anything under a 4½-pound cod is illegal.

They observed that a Sidney fisherman who was fined $25 and had his catch, valued at $127, confiscated, had sole under 12 inches, not cod as reported earlier.

Less Rain, Too

It Was a Warm October

Greater Victoria enjoyed a warmer October than usual, the weatherman reported last night.

Average mean temperature during the month was 53.4 degrees compared with an October normal of 51.8.

Maximum temperature of 64.9 was recorded on Oct. 1. Coldest day was Oct. 4, when the thermometer sank to 42.5.

On the same day the lowest grass minimum temperature was also recorded, 36.9.

It rained less than normal during the month, a scant 2.02 inches, compared to 2.85 inches. There were 13 days with measurable rainfall.

There was less sunshine, 2,059.8 hours, as compared with the normal figure of 2,069.8 hours.

B.C. Leads Way

Interest Rates Cut

British Columbia will provide leadership to Canada's chartered banks in an effort to reduce prevailing interest rates, Premier Bennett announced yesterday.

As a first step towards this end he announced reduced interest rates on what would otherwise have been a routine turnover of government-held B.C. Hydro and PGE demand notes.

DOWN TO 5½ PER CENT
On $50,900,000 worth of Hydro notes and $800,000 PGE the rate was cut from six per cent to 5½. The notes are held by the government's investment fund and pension accounts.

The premier said the reduced interest on the B.C. Hydro sum could also contribute to a later rate reduction for power users.

THINK IT'S TOO HIGH
Prevailing interest rate from chartered banks is still the maximum six per cent, he pointed out, adding "we think this is too high."

He said he hoped the move would "have a beneficial effect" on the banks and tempt them to bring their rates down.

The move also brought the rate paid by government agencies into line with the maximum it has set for municipal and educational borrowing and where a provincial guarantee is sought.

BORROWING REDUCED
The cabinet earlier this year decreed that the guarantee would not extend to municipal or school borrowing where the rate exceeded 5½ per cent. Little borrowing has been done in this field since the decision was made.

Yesterday the premier lauded three B.C. communities who have found 5½ per cent money by selling their bonds among their own residents.

He named the Village of Sidney, Harewood Improvement District near Nanaimo and Prince George as examples of what lower levels of government can accomplish by seeking capital at home.

That's exactly what the government wants," he said.

Car Breaks Window Of Store

Window of a downtown variety store was shattered by a rampaging car early yesterday morning.

City police said yesterday Barry Granger of HMCS Antigonish was driving east on Yates Street about 2:25 a.m. and made a right turn onto Douglas.

As he made the turn he lost control of the car which hit the front window of Metropolitan Stores, at Yates and Douglas. Granger suffered a deep cut over one eye.

U.K. Favors South Africa

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Britain said yesterday any attempt to expel South Africa from the UN could result in the beginning of the end of the world body. The political committee is to vote this week on possible expulsion.

Retiring Officer Honored

Retiring as commanding officer of 155 Coy. RCASC, Maj. H. C. P. Green, right, receives silver tray from Lt.-Col. F. D. Nelson on behalf of 25 Militia Group at change-of-command parade in Bay Street Armories this week. New unit commander is Capt. J. F. Rowe, who has been second-in-command since Jan., 1961.

Cubans Fail To Pay

OTTAWA (CP)—The Crown-owned Export Credits Insurance Corp. has paid $275,000 in claims in the last year to cover non-payment by Cuban buyers of Canadian goods, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Business with Cuba has slumped to practically nothing from about $2,000,000 a year in 1960.

MP Startles House With Fresh Ideas

OTTAWA (CP)—Nothing is so rare as a day in June—unless it is a really fresh idea in Parliament.

Fleeting MP Perry Ryan (L.-Toronto Spadina) has come up with two of them and is asking the government what—if anything—it is doing about them.

BOMB SHELTERS

Idea No. 1: Why not use some of the millions the government spends on building armories to put them underground, available for use both as reserve force training centres in peacetime and as bomb shelters in wartime?

Idea No. 2: Why not use some of the 'rich topics' found in some parts of the rocky Laurentian Shield to improve the sandy plains of other parts of Canada, using unemployed unskilled labor to do the job?

REPLIES NEXT WEEK

The ideas were embodied in question Mr. Ryan published in Wednesday's House of Commons order paper. They will be called for replies from the government next week.

ACTIVE QUESTIONER

Mr. Ryan, a lawyer veteran of many local political campaigns in Toronto, was first elected to the Commons last June. Since the Commons session started Sept. 27, he has been peppering the government with questions.

Proposed Postal Plan To Speed Newspapers

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department is introducing a new system to speed up the handling of newspapers at its major offices which involves eventual abandonment of weighing the papers. Postmaster-General Fairclough said Wednesday.

Traditionally, newspapers have been delivered by the publisher to the post office where they were weighed, sorted and sent on their way. This involved tremendous bulk and volume and created a huge bottleneck in places such as Toronto when the mail editions of the metropolitan dailies arrived at postal weigh scales for immediate handling.

"The new system involves using the publisher's records to arrive at the amount of postage to be paid and verifying these records through a post office audit as well as by reports by outside audit agencies such as the Audit Bureau of Circulation," Mrs. Fairclough said.

Paratroopers Escape Death

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, England (Reuters)—Eight British paratroopers are in hospital after narrowly escaping death when they were blown into the path of an express train during an Anglo-French airborne exercise in pitch darkness.

BIG CHURCH

The Lutheran Church in America had about 3,200,000 members in 1962.

Fulton Opens New Attack

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Fulton opened a new "gloom and doom" attack against the Liberals Wednesday, accusing them of refusing to recognize all evidence of Canadian economic well-being. Canada, he told the Commons, is experiencing an expansion and buoyancy seldom if ever enjoyed before in its history.

It was "strange" that the more encouraging signs become, the louder became opposition cries about the country's economic situation.

The government had been blamed for "every adverse situation" that Canada had faced. Aiming his remarks directly at the Liberal benches, Mr. Fulton said opposition members should show a "sense of proportion."

They should recognize that Canada was in a healthy condition and not undermine confidence in it by "constantly representing that things in Canada are not as they are."

Mr. Fulton said the opposition had derided "every piece of responsible evidence" as to the condition of the economy. Their vision had become so distorted by partisan considerations that they were "unable to see the true situation."

Lucien Plourde (SC-Quebec West) said it was "shameful" for other opposition parties in the House to say that Social Credit had become allied with the government.

His speech, first in his parliamentary career, stressed that the Social Credit members, unlike MPs from the other parties, were statesmen rather than politicians.

'No Useful Purpose'

Bennett Scorns Tory Resurgence

Premier Bennett said yesterday that a resurgence of the provincial Progressive Conservative Party in British Columbia could serve no useful purpose.

He made the statement during a brief press conference reference to speculation over the outcome of an attempt by a group of B.C. Tories to draft federal Works Minister E. Davis Fulton to head the provincial association.

A revitalized Tory party in B.C. would only serve to split up the free enterprise vote and hasten the day of a socialist government," said the premier.

He declined to comment on Mr. Fulton's prospects for leading B.C.'s Conservatives out of political obscurity.

He said he had no personal animosity towards the man who until a few months ago spearheaded federal efforts to thwart the B.C. government's intention of selling its Columbia River downstream power entitlement in the U.S.

Senators To Build Image

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Senator Salter Hayden charged Wednesday that recently appointed Conservative senators are "a special task force" assigned to build up the image of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Speaking in the continuing Senate throne speech debate, he said it appears the newcomers have two chief duties.

"One is to see to it that the image of the prime minister is put on the highest pedestal... that human ingenuity could possibly construct."

"The second is to point out to the people of Canada that, whether they feel it or not, and whether they believe it or not, they are having the best time of all their lives now."

On, Over and Under Douglas

Views of Sport

By Red Smith

They call him Unsinkable Mr. Brown, and maybe there isn't another like him in any field of contact sports. He is 41 years old going on 42, a little banty rooster with the face of a beat-up gremlin and the sunniest disposition this side of Pollyanna the Glad Girl. In competition, he is Pollyanna with a switch-blade.

Freckles Brown is a rodeo cowboy, a bull rider, a steer wrestler, a bronc rider. His opponents are six times bigger than Sonny Liston and 12 times meaner, and he fights them every afternoon and every evening. They'd just as soon kill him, but he kills hard.

The opponents have been working him over since he was 16, breaking his bones, smashing him up. Yet last winter when he was 40 going on 41, he went to the National Finals in Dallas sitting third in the country in bull-riding, fifth in the all-around. (The all-around champion is the cowboy who wins the most money in a year competing in two or more events.)

Riding bulls is strictly for kids, but when the finals began, this stoic old man of 40 was only $740 behind the leader. There are eight go-rounds in the finals. After six rides, the three top men were so closely bunched that anybody who could ride his last two bulls had to wind up as world champion.

Travel Is Broadening

Ronnie Rossen, the leader, was flattened by his seventh bull and went to the hospital with a split liver. Freckles mastered a brute named High Noon and won the seventh go-round. Now it was simple: He drew a bull named Nitro and Bob Wagner got Tornado, both impossible. If either could stay aboard, he'd win. Both went down. The title went to Rossen in his hospital bed.

This year it was no contest. Freckles started in the all-around, but after Cheyenne in July he concentrated on bulls. Up to a week ago he had won $18,875 on bulls, $20,483 altogether to stand fourth in the all-arounds. There wasn't a chance in the world for any bull-rider to catch him.

This is how Freckles earned that money: Labor Day week he was working Sacramento, Fallon, Ellensburg, Wash., Lewiston, Idaho, and Moses Lake, Wash., practically simultaneously. Once he drove his brother's car from Fallon to the Reno airport and burned out the generator. Once the airline booked him on one of those flights that no longer went where it used to go. Dumped in Portland, Ore., he grabbed a plane to Pasco, Wash., found no public transport there, and drove a rented heap 122 miles to Ellensburg just in time to split second and third money.

Shuttling from the Northwest, he won a first and split a third and fourth at Sacramento; didn't score in Fallon; split second on one bull and was third in the average at Ellensburg; got fourth in the average at Moses Lake, and rode an impossible bull, Ice-man, to tie for first at Lewiston.

The whole crazy week was worth $1,588.88.

Them Nuts Out of College

In August a fellow said to Tex Martin, "Do you think old Freck can go all the way?" Martin is a lean strip of gristle who's been making the circuit with Brown for years.

"I don't think the scrawny old thing is riding any better than he did last year," Tex said, "but I never saw anybody try like him. You go down the road with that silly old coot in the winter and he drives you nuts. At five in the morning he'll throw all the windows open and do 40 push-ups so fast you'll think he's on springs. About a week ago he raised it to 55 push-ups, and he hasn't had a drink in a month, and he even goes easy on coffee. He's like one of them nuts out of college."

From Pendleton in August to last week in Portland, the liveliest topic of conversation was old Freckles Brown and his implausible run for the championship. He was comfortably ahead last Sunday; he didn't have to take any chances. But he didn't place on his first bull, and then they give him one named Black Smoke.

Black Smoke is a polled Angus-Brahma recognized as pure hell. Freckles had hooked up with him twice before, both times in the Cow Palace in San Francisco. Their score was 1 to 1. A hundred other cowboys, sitting pretty for the championship, would have turned the rope loose and got off that beast fast. Freckles Brown is the 101st cowboy.

It Happened Once Before

When the whistle blew, Freckles was still aboard, but way over on the bull's right shoulder, clinging desperately to the rope. As he went down, the bull's poll swirled around and clipped him. He went limp. Black Smoke wheeled and mauled him on the ground.

Freckles woke up in a four-bed room in Portland's Emanuel Hospital. A cervical fracture, they called it, meaning a broken neck. "Doc," Freckles said, "this happened to me once before, but it didn't bother me."

He said how about putting pins in his neck so he could get up and get around. When his daughter Donna heard that, she said, "Dad'll be trying to ride at the finals." Freckles wife Edith said, "I'm leaving it all up to Brown." She uses that name with a note of respect.

Olmstead Willing?

CALGARY (CP) — Bert Olmstead was expected in New York today to meet with officials of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, which controls New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

His wife, who remained at the family home here, indicated the meeting would lead to the former Montreal and Toronto star altering his thinking about retirement.

"I don't think any player wants to quit, ever," she said in an interview Tuesday. "It's giving up the last of their youth, isn't it?"

Mrs. Olmstead said her husband's meetings will not for the first time include Ranger general manager Muzz Patrick, who doubles as coach of the team. He was not expected back in New York until next week.

Patrick initiated a series of negotiations with Olmstead after Rangers drafted him for $20,000.

15 Rote Seems Anxious . . .

ANNIS STUKUS

Stukus Will Risk 'Shot in the Nose'

TORONTO (CP) — A feud between football television commentator Annis Stukus and quarterback Tobin Rote of Toronto Argonauts broke wide open today after his player charged that Stukus "knows nothing about football."

The $25,000-a-year quarterback, who has said he doesn't plan to return to the Eastern Football Conference club next season, made the comment in an interview with sports director Bill Stephenson of radio station CFRB, Toronto, and elaborated in an interview with The Telegram.

He told Telegram football writer Bob Frewin that the things Stukus "tells the general public are misleading and inaccurate."

Stukus, commentator on the CTV network's telecast of EFC games and a sport writer for The Telegram, said in a story today that Rote "has come to the end of the road" and "Argos' future will be much brighter with Rote definitely out of the picture."

"I think it is rather obvious to anyone who follows football that I am not a Rote fan," said Stukus. "In fact, Rote has known about this for some time because we have discussed it head-to-head."

Rote said that "Stukus and his stupid comments don't affect me. I feel Stukus has been unfair only because he doesn't know about football. I've watched the games on TV when we haven't been playing and heard Stukus. The things he tells the general public are misleading and inaccurate."

"If you know the game, you know Stukus doesn't by the things he says. Maybe he hasn't been unfair so much as that he let it be known that he just doesn't like me."

Before becoming a TV commentator, Stukus played football in Toronto for several years in the 30s. Later the former quarterback became head coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference and then British Columbia Lions.

Rote, a brilliant passer who still capable of playing good football on occasion. He added that win or lose he'll be in the Argos' dressing room after their crucial game against Montreal Alouettes this Saturday—"even if I do get that shot in the nose I've heard he has promised me before he leaves Toronto."

"Stukus is way out of line," Rote added. "He got left back in the depths of the single wing some place. He thinks single wing—and that formation is now obsolete."

Stukus said that when Rote played a good game he was the first to say so—"but like most professional athletes, Rote cannot accept honest criticism."

He said the quarterback is

Trio Promoted

Three officers with the First Battalion, PPCLI, Work Point, have received promotions. Advanced to major are Captains R. S. Peacock and N. L. Topham. Lieut. J. P. R. E. Beauregard has been raised to captain.

Three Quarterbacks Near Western Football Records

of Calgary Stampeders has already set one Western Football Conference record, and four more could fall in Saturday's final games — three of them to quarterbacks.

Joe Kapp of B.C. Lions, who has completed 183 passes for 3,000 yards, needs 275 more yards passing against Saskatchewan Roughriders Saturday in Vancouver to break the record set by Frank Tripucka of Riders in 1956.

Bob Patek of Riders also has a possible record at stake. Patek has an average pass of 11.2 yards and needs to keep up the average to break the mark of 11.1 held by Don Getty of Edmonton.

Almost certain to set a record is Winnipeg quarterback Ken Ploen, who has completed 135 of 205 passes for a completion average of 65.8 per cent. Tripucka holds the record, 61.48 per cent, set in 1955.

Bombers play Edmonton Eskimos in Winnipeg Saturday, and Elks' Tommy-Joe Coffey needs to grab passes to tie the mark of 63 shared by Ernie Pitts and Bud Grant of Bombers. Pitts is eight receptions shy of the record.

Wylie's record was for kick-off returns, as he returned 28 kicks for a 31.2 yard average and 867 yards. Best previous mark was 854 yards, set by Winnipeg's Leo Lewis in 1957.

Fullback Nub Beamer of Lions has all but clinched this year's rushing record with a net gain of 1,113 yards. Only player with even a remote chance of catching him is teammate Willie Fleming, third with 954 yards at the moment. Calgary's Earl Lunsford, with no games left, rushed for 1,016 yards.

BEST AVERAGE
Fleming has the best average gain at 7.1 yards per carry, compared to 6.6 yards for Lewis. Kapp has thrown the most touchdowns, passes, 24, and had the most passes intercepted, 18. Coffey is the top receiver, with 939 yards and 10 touchdowns, 104 yards more than Pitts.

Ferd Burket of Riders is the leading kicker with a 45.6-yard average.

Giants Eye Trade For 20/20 Cepeda

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Medical reports and rumors of trade were vying for attention among San Francisco Giants today.

There were these developments:

1. First baseman Orlando Cepeda learned Tuesday after a 1½-hour eye examination that he does not have a vision-impeding cataract over his right eye as he had feared.

2. Centrefielder Willie Mays, who collapsed in September and spent three days in hospital, entered Mount Zion Hospital here for a complete physical examination.

3. As soon as Cepeda was ruled free of eye trouble, his name re-entered the winter trade rumor derby. He is said to be San Francisco's chief bait for an established starting pitcher.

EYES ARE GOOD
Giants' Dr. George Campton examined Cepeda and said his right eye has normal 20-20 vision and his "superb left eye" is 20-15.

The discovery apparently rules out eye trouble as a cause of Cepeda's dismal hitting in the final two months of the National League season. Although he finished with a .306 average, Cepeda had been above .350 for the first two months of the season.

His home-run and run-batted-in production also dropped from league highs, leading to stories that he might be expendable if the Giants could get another starting pitcher.

Club vice-president Chub Feehey conceded that the Giants would listen to offers for Cepeda but was noncommittal beyond that. Two pitchers mentioned frequently are Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia and Bill Monbouquette of Boston.

Turner Heads Bowling Club

Eric Turner has been named president of Victoria Lawn Bowling Club for the coming season.

C. B. Tallack will be vice-president, H. O. Thomas, secretary, and J. F. Galbraith, treasurer. C. E. Jones is honorary president.

Anyone interested in joining the club is asked to write to Mr. Thomas, 30 Douglas Street.

Oxford Routs Canadian Club

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Charley Johnson has replaced veteran Sam "The Rifle" Etcheverry as quarterback with the Cardinals.

When the Cards lost three of their first four games in the National Football League this season, coach Wally Lemm called on Johnson to take over from Etcheverry, who moved here two years ago after a brilliant career with Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference.

Despite a few moments of indecision, Johnson has the Cardinals playing 500 ball under him. They beat Dallas Cowboys, lost to Cleveland Browns and tied Washington Redskins.

Etcheverry, 32, who was bothered by arm trouble most of last season and couldn't seem to get the club rolling this year, tossed only two touchdown strikes and set up another on passes in his three engagements.

Both are at the tail-end of the list in the passing department. Etcheverry has completed 51 of 93 passes for 639 yards. Johnson has clicked on 47 of 100 for 643 yards.

In recent games the Cardinals have used Etcheverry as a punter or to hold the ball on converts.

The Cards are sixth in the seven-team Eastern Division.

'Y' Prevents Social Ills Critics Told

In medical research, scientists probe the mysteries of medicine with a two-fold goal: a cure—and a means of preventing that particular disease.

This emphasis on prevention is just as strong in the bid to relieve man's social ills.

QUALIFIER FOR APPEAL

It's the preventive aspect of the work carried out by Victoria YMCA that qualifies it for a place among the 23 health, welfare and family service organizations that have voluntarily combined under the single banner of the United Appeal.

The "Y" spearheads the preventive campaign against the social ills that too often qualify Victoria citizens for attention from such "cure" agencies as the John Howard Society, the Community Welfare Council or the Canadian Mental Health Association's White Cross centre.

MOST CRITICIZED

Yet despite the leadership displayed in this less spectacular "preventive" role, the "Y" is probably the most criticized member of the Appeal.

The criticism cites the fact that the "Y" is a non-charitable organization, charges for most of its services and seems more interested in "building up" a few gifted athletes.

ATTITUDE UNREALISTIC

Deputy campaign chairman J. Stuart Keate said recently that this attitude towards the "Y" and another Appeal member, the Boy Scouts Association, is unrealistic.

Both groups, he said, provided an untold number of youngsters with guidance and healthful social development.

United Appeal officials agree that it is easy to present statistics on the number of cases helped by the "cure" agencies.

MANY KEPT STRAIGHT

"But how do you determine how many boys may have gone wrong if it hadn't been for Scout activity or the Y program?" asked a social worker.

"We use our physical activities program as a tool to attract people into our fellowship as people take increasing pride in physical skills," said executive director Viv Shoemaker.

Programs are aimed at the widest possible appeal, and fees are kept low to attract everyone (both the "Y" and the Scouts have special arrangements for youngsters without the necessary funds). "We don't want 'Y' activities to become exclusive," said one official.

Crew of 15 Saved From Sinking Ship

HALIFAX (CP)—The 13-man crew of the fishing vessel Gallantry out of the French Islands of St. Pierre-Miquelon was rescued from the sinking ship about 250 miles south of Cape Race, Nfld., early Wednesday by the trawler Blue Spray.

RCAF Search and Rescue headquarters here said the Gallantry radioed shortly after midnight that she was filling with water and asked for assistance.

The Blue Spray, 43 miles away at the time, sped to the scene and took the 13 men off the sinking ship. A search and rescue spokesman said the Blue Spray would probably take the men to St. Pierre.

Immigrants Up By 400

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration to Canada in the first nine months of this year rose slightly to 96,000 from 94,100 in the corresponding period of last year, the Immigration department said yesterday.

Arrivals from Britain totaled 11,847, up from 9,850 in the first nine months of last year. Italians were second and from the United States third.

Citizens' Co-operation Asked To Help Stamp Out Vandalism

An appeal for the help of all citizens in stamping out vandalism, particularly of the kind directed at city property, was made yesterday by Ald. A. W. Toome.

Earlier the alderman, who is chairman of the city's cemetery committee, asked for additional police patrols by squad cars through Ross Bay Cemetery by both day and night.

The police commission and Police Chief Blackstock assured me of every co-operation in this regard," Ald. Toome said later.

"This means that the cemetery will be better looked after but it is impossible to set up a guard 24 hours a day on every piece of city property, so we will need the co-operation of all citizens."

Ald. Toome added: "Some people may feel that they can't report acts of vandalism without being put on the spot. If this is the case, they may feel free to report it to city hall or any alderman, who will pass on the information to the appropriate authority."

Following $3,000 in damage in Ross Bay Cemetery city parks committee recommended city council establish a standing reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone who damages city property, including parks and the cemetery.

Damaged Trees Stay in Oak Bay

Following the recent storm, two Oak Bay residents have asked municipal council to remove trees, with little success.

The municipal works committee has voted to inform K. R. F. Denniston of 1960 Bowker Place council does not think it is in a position to remove elm trees near his house. A large branch split off one.

The committee was told the person in front of whose property the trees grow does not object to them.

The committee authorized municipal works superintendent Ralph Fletcher to test an oak which lost several large limbs in front of Dr. William Graham's house at 3405 Cadboro Bay Road.

Mr. Fletcher said the tree was apparently sound, although perhaps brittle from age. Dr. Graham wrote that the tree was "obviously rotting." Coun. Allan Cox said Dr. Graham is "a fine physician but not a tree surgeon."

'King' Known Sunday

Big winners in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest will be drawn today, but their names will be kept secret until Sunday morning's paper.

Some 15,479 tickets on as many fish will be placed in a huge drum this afternoon and mixed thoroughly.

ALL-IMPORTANT

Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo will pick out the all-important ticket, which then will be processed. The number will be scratched with a King Fisherman entry form and circulation department officials will check to see if the person who caught the fish was a Colonist subscriber when he caught it.

OFFERED CHOICE

If he or she is a subscriber, he will be offered the choice of a Canadian Pacific Airlines all-expense-paid vacation for two in Japan, a weekend camping-fishing trip for two with a Vancouver Island Helicopters whirlybird at his command or a 12-foot car top Thorne's aluminum boat.

Next tickets will be awarded the other prizes.

Modern Ancient

Like a Roman legionnaire during the last days of Pompeii, Christopher Mills, 9, 1200 St. David, is all-housed against mighty bonfire at last night's outdoor Halloween celebration in Oak Bay.

Fires, Parties Lure Throngs

The smell of gunpowder and bonfires hung heavy over Greater Victoria last night as everyone from kiddies to civic leaders joined in Halloween festivities.

Pint-sized ghosts and witches swarmed all over town, running from door to door to get their paper bags filled with goodies.

Firecrackers and Roman candles were going off everywhere. The flickering, orange glow of numerous bonfires lighted the night sky.

Many parents held fireworks displays in their own back yards.

Some children carried Save the Children Fund collection bins on their trick-or-treat rounds. Mrs. W. W. McGill, local representative, reported early in the evening a private school had turned in $435 and two boys turned in $35.10 and $21.88.

There were large, organized parties from Sooke to Central Saanich.

Costume Winners

In costume-judging in the age one-to-four division, prizes for best-dressed girl and best-dressed boy were both won by girls. Jean Williams dressed up as a boy and Denise Bings won in the distaff division.

Other winners were: five and six girls, Georgia-Lee Hendry, boys Barry Moore, seven and eight girls, Laurie Clapp, boys Michael Winston; nine to 12 girls, Kim Mills, boys Christopher Mills; best couple, Bonnie Greening and Gail Brittain.

Oak Bay councillor Allan Cox, wearing no disguise but a harried look, was noted leading five costumed small types, strung out like ducklings, through the park. Only two, he said, were his.

Meanwhile, 160 boys and their brothers and sisters jammed the headquarters of the

At Oak Bay's Firemen's Park, a giant bonfire of construction leftovers and tires, augmented by news papers brought by enthusiastic kiddies, licked toward the sky while the music of Fred Lishor's Howlowners resounded in the background.

Three-foot-high pirates did the twist beside four-foot witches, skeletons and ghosts, while uncostumed teenagers stood about and kept up a steady din of exploding fireworks.

An estimated 1,700 persons attended the festivities. Kids also consumed all 600 hot dogs available and could have handled plenty more, said Don Johnston, chairman of the Oak Bay Kiwanis committee which organized festivities along with municipal firemen.

Gavin Gustafson, 13, who was dressed as a Quaker, won the pie-eating meet and was congratulated by Sebastian Salm, 12, who looked like a well-dressed lady but won a prize as best-costumed boy. Chris James, 12, was best doughnut-eater.

A dozen residents of Cherilee Crescent teamed up to keep 30 youngsters off the streets and out of trouble. "We built a bonfire for them, and treated them with hot dogs, coffee and pop," said A. L. Wagner, 3831 Cherilee.

Sandy Osmundson had a six-piece band at his private Halloween party.

Dimes for All

At Bullen Park in Esquimalt, Lions Club officials lined all the children in costume in a row and gave each a dime. Paymaster was James Bryant, a Lions Club member and senior councillor on Esquimalt council.

They went through 300 hot dogs and as many bags of candy in 45 minutes, said Alex Ryves. William Whitehead dished out the hot dogs.

Behind the Langford firehall, deputy fire chief Allan Le Quere touched a match to a huge pile of hot dogs. It went up with a big bang, he said.

Mrs. Jean Boulter supervised Langford PTA members Mary Caffery, Mary Peden, Margaret Coty, Nona Kinnear and Mrs. Sandy Hardisty in preparation of treats for about 75 children.

Six-year-old Peter Kupiak, dressed as a huge orange pumpkin, had the best costume. His sister, Heather, 2, won first place in the preschool category for her angel costume. Ricky Berry won the primary class award and Mary Gutter the intermediate.

Mrs. Pleta Bullena from Holland, attending her first Halloween party in Canada, had her three children in the Langford costume contest, Betty 6, Robert 4, and Sandra 2.

At the Colwood firehall, Robert Wishart on duty in the alarm room played records through a public address system. Chief Dick Emery, assisted by firemen Ken Robinson and Ernest Collier, had the difficult job of judging costumes.

Hazel Birtwistle said some of the costume winners were Denise Foster, Susan Ridley, Richard Barker, James Seister, Christine Houghton and Mark Ridley.

At Metchoan, firemen put on a fireworks display for about 300 children and 100 adults. There was also a big bonfire and treats for all the children, said fireman Bill Reid.

Gypsies Raid Manse

Dressed as raggle-taggle gypsies, sisters Eve, Susan and Mary Meszaros, 5, 5 and 13, ask for shell-outs at the house of Rev. J. H. James. Peeking from behind are Mr. James's children, Debbie, 11, and Kenzie, 3.

No Hands No Handicap

It's Raining Cat Weeks!

Two cat weeks are overlapping their efforts to win public sympathy for cats, a Victoria Cat's Protection League official charged last night.

The original National Cat Week starts today with a display window at 1239 Broad, said Mrs. Helen Kerwell, 646 Niagara, while Cat

Week International 62, Nov. 4 to 10, is just "an offshoot of our organization."

Mrs. Kerwell doesn't regard the offshoot as competition in Canada, but in the U.S. "they could possibly be rivals."

"To get the most from your cat you've got to understand it," said Mrs. Kerwell. "A cat is a subtle creature.

and if you win its friendship, you can be really proud.

"Cats like to be treated as little people."

Until next Thursday, the league will try to answer as 1239 Broad such questions as to how to feed, nurse, educate, raise, control or purchase a cat.

"If you respect your cat, it will return the affection."

Mrs. Kerwell said. "But it won't turn the other cheek as humans do when insulted."

"A cat is like a child; you can't let it do everything it wants to do."

Noting the slogan "If it meows, we'll service it" in the rival cat week press release, she gave the league's slogan:

"Every Week is cat week to us."

New Regulations

CPR Plans in Peril

By IAN STREET

The city is drafting new planning regulations to meet the threat of a multi-million-dollar commercial development on Esplanade Hotel property.

The action was disclosed at the last city council meeting when the advisory planning commission presented proposed new regulations to cover all forms of transient accommodation in Victoria.

The regulations contain a section covering the immediate vicinity of the Inner Harbor which would prohibit any building within 100 feet of the street property line.

This would effectively squelch any plans acknowledged by CPR officials as being in the discussion stage last August—for a garden shopping arcade facing Government—and a multi-story apartment block on Belleville, rising to the same height as the hotel.

PLAN TABLED

There has been no discussion, to date, by city council of the proposed new regulations, which were simply tabled on receipt for later clause-by-clause study.

The CPR was reported some time ago to be considering the commercial development to offset an expected doubling of its civic taxes when special long-time tax concessions held by the company expire in 1964.

Under the existing agreement the CPR has paid a fixed sum of $34,000 a year on its hotel property which has an estimated value of nearly $2,000,000. It would have had to pay almost $77,000 if taxed like other property owners this year.

In a area on Government between the centre lines of Humboldt and Elliott and on Belleville between the centre lines of Douglas and Oswego, all future buildings must be set back at least 100 feet from the street.

RULE OUT ARCADE

This would rule out the proposed shopping arcade and the high-rise apartment which could not comply with the setback regulations.

It would have no effect, presumably, on other proposals advanced by the CPR for doubling the present car parking space—either by digging underground or putting up a one-storey building above the present parking lot at the rear of the hotel.

Bomb Puts City Boy In Hospital

A home-made bomb was a 14-year-old's ticket into St. Joseph's Hospital last night. The youth didn't get the sizzling thrown away quickly enough. It blew up in his face.

A nine-year-old boy was also admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with second-degree burns when firecrackers blew up in his pocket.

Another firecracker—in the pocket victim was treated but later sent home.

At Royal Jubilee Hospital an eight-year-old boy, a 15-year-old girl and a 15-year-old boy were all treated for injuries when firecrackers blew up in their eyes. All were released.

Tests Above Standard

Navy Here Jumps Gun For Physical Fitness

By DON GAIN

The navy at Victoria has jumped the gun on a Canada-wide physical fitness program—scheduled to start today—to raise all officers and then above the national average.

"We have already tested about 1,000 men at Naden," physical training specialist Lt.-Cmdr. R. E. Savage told The Daily Colonist last night.

ALL PERSONNEL

All men under 40 must take the exercises and the program is no respecter of rank or occupation, the commander said. It embraces all personnel whether they are at sea or at a desk, in an isolated radio station or driving a truck.

In addition to Naden personnel, some ship companies have been tested, the commander said, and Dockyard is still to be examined.

YARDSTICK

Yardstick of the new Canada-wide program is a series of tests, which are based on minimum standards just above the national average. Navy personnel will be measured against these standards.

"If anyone fails these tests, he will take compulsory additional training after working hours until he meets the minimum standard," the commander explained. "These tests will be conducted at least twice a year."

VARY BY AGE

The tests are a series of push-ups, chin-ups, sit-ups, standing broad jumps and running, devised by a former Victoria man, Lt.-Cmdr. R. P. Mylrea, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Mylrea, 1324 Finlayson.

Lt.-Cmdr. Mylrea, a physical and recreational training specialist with the RCN for more than 20 years, set up these exercises to test arms, legs, abdominal muscles and resiliency, with minimum standards varying according to age group.

LONGER PERIODS

As an aid to the program the navy increased the minimum period for physical and recreational training from 40 to 90 minutes per week.

"There are also voluntary programs," Lt.-Cmdr. Savage said. "Bowling, curling, golf, badminton, weight training and team sports. They all help."

Although pleased with results so far, Lt.-Cmdr. Savage told the Colonist the navy was not going to rest on its laurels. "We can always be better," he said.

STAFF NOTEBOOK

Firecrackers Taken Into 'Enemy' Camp

DAREDEVILS: All those warnings about police crackdowns on kids setting off firecrackers in the street paid off in an odd way yesterday afternoon. When we dropped into police headquarters about 4 p.m. we passed a group of youngsters setting crackers off right under Chief Constable John Blackstock's office window, at the main entrance to the police station.

NO SALE: There's a certain firecracker law which says seems to have SALE: signs in its windows but they might be missing one day soon—for one day. Don Craig, 2518 Kilgarry Place, recklessly promised wife Margaret a $10 bill if he could just drive past the store one day and not see the perpetual signs in the window. So Margaret is thinking of offering to spend $10 in the store if the owner will take the signs out for the one day.

FUNNY MONEY PAPER?

We've heard a little rumor that the new newspaper beginning in Vancouver shortly is backed by Social Credit cash. It's an intriguing thought—Premier Bennett for a long time has been beating that tired old drum that the papers of the province are against him.

FORMAL: Woman we know ordered a cab the other warm day and when it arrived the driver was sitting there in shirtdiapers. But when our friend gave her destination as the staid old Empress Hotel her driver muttered "Oh, I guess then I'd better put my coat on," and he did.

BEST POLICY: Lake Cowichan resident, Mrs. Karl

Crouch is convinced that Victoria residents are honest—and obliging—after her experience the other day. She used pharmacist in downtown department store and left her purse behind when she went. Almost an hour later, when she had pushed her last and made her way back to the store, she found a woman near the phone with the purse waiting for her to return. "I was going to wait a little longer and then I would have sent it to your address," the woman said.

PINBALL: City lawyer we know contends that pinball machines in some areas of Victoria are clearly illegal as they pay off in one way or another.

Stand-In Suffers for Jackie

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has a look-alike stand-in, who posed for her recently at a White House television filming.

BPW

Career Preview

The second meeting of the current "Career Preview" sponsored by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 4:00 p.m. This Career Preview will be in the form of a panel discussion on "Careers in a General Hospital Other Than Nursing," such as laboratory technician, physiotherapy, X-ray technician and medical stenographers. Miss Elizabeth Clement will be moderator and speakers will be Miss Barbara Brethour, Mrs. Marion Schmidt, Miss Nancy Thomson and Miss Lorna Graham.

Strangers and friends have pointed out the strong resemblance between Mrs. Ruth Shivar, a law firm secretary, and the wife of the U.S. president. They're the same age—33—and the same weight and size.

They finally met last week at the White House where a television company was filming part of an hour-long show promoting the proposed new National Cultural Centre here.

Mrs. Kennedy's part in the show actually will take only a few minutes, but Mrs. Shivar, hired as her stand-in, worked with the TV crews for 10 hours at the White House Oct. 25. Mrs. Kennedy spent an hour doing her bit part describing the cultural centre from a design model set up in the diplomatic reception room. They did not pose together.

Mrs. Shivar, who does modeling as a hobby but prefers her secretarial job, works for a Washington law firm not far from the White House. She comes from Kenansville, N.C., and lives in Arlington, Va., with her husband who works for the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Fairfield Unit of the Fairfield United Church Women held a minicent making bee recently in preparation for the jubilee bazaar to be held at the church on Nov. 17. The bazaar will be a family affair with a turkeyburger luncheon from 11:30-a.m. to 1 p.m. and tea served from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Pictured are Mrs. B. Varlos, Mrs. W. L. Eaton, Mrs. John Morrison, Mrs. H. C. Firth, Mrs. D. R. Allen and Mrs. E. H. Hanson.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Frances Lee, who sailed for New Zealand on the Canberra yesterday, spent a week on Salt Spring Island visiting relations before leaving for Vancouver, where she boarded ship. Leaving on the same boat, and for the same destination, were Mr. and Mrs. A. Finney, recently of Fulford.

Celebrate 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. George of Burton Avenue celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary recently by holding a family dinner in the Dominion Hotel Terra Costa Room. A two-tiered cake centred the table. With them was their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. George of Seattle; a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. (Ellie) Tidbury and grandson, Mr. David Tidbury, who returned this month after serving three years with the Royal Canadian Air Force in Zweibrücken, Germany. An "at home" followed in the Tidbury's Carrick Street home. Mr. and Mrs. George were married in Sittingbourne, Kent, England, and came to Victoria in 1911. Mr. George was on the city staff for 32 years. The couple received congratulations from the Queen and other dignitaries.

Wedding Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Crawford, 3074 Orilla Street, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Kathryn Patricia Fvarg, to Mr. William George White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy White, 902 Arundel Drive. The marriage will take place on Nov. 9 at 2:30 p.m. in St. Martin's in the Fields Church with Archdeacon J. W. Firth officiating.

Linen Shower

Bride-elect Miss Dorene Holt was honored at a linen shower recently by Miss Dianne McPherson at 4287 Crescent Drive. Guests were Mrs. Eniferson Holt, Mrs. C. Gardner, Mrs. L. Smale, Mrs. C. E. Duke, Miss Mae Duke, Mrs. M. Stevenson, Mrs. M. Scott, Mrs. G. Ingalls, Mrs. M. Callander, Mrs. C. Gibb, Mrs. D. Smale, Mrs. L. Davies, Mrs. J. Burge, Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. E. McLean, Mrs. C. Dean, Mrs. R. Adams. Also the Misses Audrey and Roberta Smale, Darlene Ingalls and Pat Nightingale. White tapes and roses centred the tea table and Mrs. M. Scott, the groom-elect's aunt, poured.

Pink and Blue Shower

A pink and blue shower was held recently at the home of Mrs. A. V. Piper, Narvaux Crescent, in honor of Mrs. Don McAllister. Assisting during the program and refreshments were Mrs. David Welch and Mrs. J. H. Woods.

Farewell Party

Mrs. Kello Wilson, Ganges, who is leaving shortly to reside in Victoria, was honored recently at her home with a farewell surprise party, arranged by Mrs. George Nelson and Mrs. Barney Lukes. Mrs. Wilson was presented with a gift and an evening of games was enjoyed, followed by the serving of a dainty supper.

Those invited were Mrs. G. D. Cruickshank, Mrs. L. Cruickshank, Mrs. M. W. Jones, Mrs. G. E. Croft, Mrs. E. L. Lumley, Mrs. F. O. Mills, Mrs. H. Loomore, Mrs. R. Toynbee, Mrs. Frank Hemming, Mrs. B. L. Krebs, Mrs. W. C. Wells, Mrs. R. J. Vapaavuori, Mrs. F. W. Frederickson, Mrs. D. Layard, Mrs. W. J. Stepanuk, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. E. G. Nelson, Mrs. Geo. Dewhurst, Dr. Marjorie Jansch and Miss Penny Mochuk.

Wedding Guests

Among those attending the Whitcomb-Moore wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. P. Saxby-Hawkins of Sanca, Kootenay Lake, B.C., Mr. Fred King, Mr. V. Adams, Port Alberni, and Mr. J. Young and family of Duncan.

Nursing Reserve

EDMONTON (CP)—The University of Alberta Hospital is forming a 100-member nursing reserve designed to bring the city's non-active registered nurses back to the hospitals on a part-time basis.

Dr. J. D. Wallace, the hospital's executive director, said Friday that if the plan is successful, it could relieve a severe shortage of professional nurses that has increasingly plagued large and complex hospitals especially in the past few years.

"All communities have a considerable number of nurses who are unable, because of family responsibilities, to devote full time to their profession."

Bronze and Gold Wedding Theme

A beautiful designed gown of white pure silk organza featuring a classic basque bodice with bateau neckline was chosen by Sheila Mary MacPhail for her recent marriage to Mr. Ross Richard Murray.

The controlled skirt of the gown was delicately traced with embroidered flowers and caught up with bows at the side before cascading to a cathedral train. A filmy fingertip veil misted from a dainty tiara of seed pearls in petal design.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacPhail, was given in marriage by her father at the double-ring, candlelit ceremony in Metropolitan United Church. She carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Murray, Neil Street. Mr. C. R. McGillivray officiated.

Mrs. E. H. Hamblett, matron of honor, and the Misses Marlene Cummins and Pat Seagle, chose full length gowns of champagne gold and bronzed satin, styled with bouffant skirts. Their headpieces were matching and they carried large white chrysanthemums surrounded with autumn leaves and ribbons.

Mr. Lorne C. Murray was best man for his brother and Mr. Warren Garden, Mr. Ward Stevens and Mr. Robbie Williamson ushered guests.

Hollywood House was the scene of the reception where 200 guests danced to the music of Garry Howard's orchestra. The decor matched the bride's attendants' dresses.

Leaving on a honeymoon to Harrison Hot Springs, the bride changed to a red three-quarter length suit with grey fur trim, and black accessories. On their return the couple will make their home on Battery Street.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am only 17 but I'm very worried about what is happening to the world. I don't want to get married too young and miss out on the fun of being foot loose and fancy free. I keep telling myself there is plenty of time to be tied down to housework and babies. Yet I sometimes fear if I don't get married soon I may never get the chance.

All this talk about atomic war is very scary. Most people think it will never happen but nobody knows for sure. It could happen by accident, now that the smaller countries are working it out by themselves. And then we read so much about population explosion. Will I be pushed into the sea by masses of people? Will I starve because the earth will be unable to produce enough food for everyone?

I know you can't predict the future, but do you think I'm worrying about things that are silly?—MISS SEVENTEEN.

Dear Miss Seventeen: Worry takes time and energy. It is debilitating and bootless. To sit around and stew about a nuclear war or the population explosion is silly since you have no control over these matters.

Each of us must pray and work for peace because the alternative is unimaginable. Life without faith is meaningless. We must live each day as if we know tomorrow will come. Because it usually does.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter about the retarded child prompts me to write my first letter to a newspaper. I'm a woman in my 60s but I still suffer from anxieties which started in childhood because my parents were ignorant on this subject. I'm not blaming them, because everyone else was ignorant, too. In those days little was known about retarded children.

Both my step-sister and step-brother were born with brain damage. They were permitted to run wild, like animals. No attempt was made to discipline them or to teach them anything.

Today, thank God, we know that these children can be disciplined and taught, depending on the degree of retardation. So please, Ann, keep urging parents to seek professional help. It can make a world of difference to the retarded one as well as to other members of the family.—ORLANDO HEARTACHE.

Dear Heartache: Thank you for your letter. For those who want information, it can be obtained free by writing to: National Association for Retarded Children, Inc., 386 Park Avenue South, New York 16, New York.

Problems Galore For Parking Body

By IAN STREET
Opening of the first downtown parking garage expected late in November has tossed a number of pressing problems into the lap of Victoria's special parking committee.

It must decide, first, who shall operate the View Street garage and one to follow soon on lower Yates Street. Then there are matters of traffic routing, charges, hours of opening, and many other details to be settled.

Ald. Michael Griffin, chairman of the special committee set up to handle the matter, said yesterday a meeting will be called in a few days to face the issues.

To construct the two parking garages with a total capacity of 800 cars city council will borrow the sum of $1,115,000. The entire cost is to be borne by merchants in the downtown area.

The merchants who voted on the proposal will be assessed any deficit remaining after debt charges and operating costs have been paid.

Legislation enabling the city to set up a parking commission to operate the garages is already in existence. But no decision has been made yet on whether there shall be a commission.

MAKUP OF COMMISSION
If the decision is for a commission, said Ald. Griffin, there is still a knotty problem to be solved in the makeup of the body. Should it be composed entirely of city council members or businessmen or a number of each?

There will be a charge for parking in the new downtown garages, but the rates haven't been fixed. These can be equivalent to meter rates or on a sliding scale such as most private parking facilities use.

MAY BE MORE SPACE
Space can also be allotted for some long-term parking if estimates show that initially shoppers using the facilities on an hourly basis leave room to spare.

Other decisions include those of whether to use any form of validation of parking tickets in downtown stores; and final recommendations on the traffic patterns serving the garages.

ENGINEERING MATTER
The latter is largely an engineering matter and has already been brought before council in form of a recommendation for removal of the scramble lights at Yates and Douglas and allowing left turns at this key intersection.

All traffic would enter the View Street garage from Blanshard.
Final decision on the traffic change is expected in about two weeks.

Good Name Involved In Photo Firm 'Ruse'

The good name of the Vancouver Island Better Business Bureau was dishonestly used by a firm of photographers to get information from a competitor. It was reported yesterday.

William Tindall, manager-director of the bureau, said he knew nothing of the ruse until Earl Aune of Canadian Studios complained to the bureau yesterday.

Mr. Aune last night said he could prove an employee of another photography firm phoned Canadian Studios, introduced himself as a Better Business Bureau official and requested information about a former Canadian Studios employee.

Mr. Aune said he gave the information.

LATER NOTIFIED
"I would have given him the information if he'd said who he was. I don't mind competition, but I don't like to see the name of the Better Business Bureau used that way."

MADE BY MAIL
Mr. Tindall said any real bureau requests for information are made by mail, usually by sending a standard form to be filled out and returned.

Both photographic firms specialize in working in commercial houses.

Bride Killed
In Car Crash
CALGARY (CP)—A bride of three weeks was one of two persons killed in a head-on collision seven miles west of here. Killed was Shirley Simpkin, 20-year-old wife of Rifleman William Simpkin. Edward Smith, 60, of Calgary, a passenger in the other car, also died.

Damp Heads Bring Hard Hats

Sweaty heads are bringing Oak Bay's work crews under the critical eye of the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Oak Bay works committee was told Tuesday night.

The committee voted to recommend that council spend about $200 to buy hard hats for each member of the municipal work crews could be issued one and held responsible for it.

Council was told the works department had had difficulty getting workers to wear the hats when they were required and this has brought criticism from the compensation board.

Part of the problem now, committee members were told, is that there aren't enough hats to go round and crew members find it objectionable to put on hats with sweatbands which have been soaked in other people's perspiration.

Cranmore Job
Recommended
An estimated $42,290 local improvement of Cranmore Road between Hampshire and Beach has been recommended to Oak Bay municipal council by its works committee.

Under the proposal, $20,109 would be paid by the municipality, $14,347 by affected property owners and $7,834 by a winter works grant. The committee tabled for further study a proposal of a $77,653 local improvement on Monterey Avenue.

Still Time for Iris

By M. V. CHESNUT, FERN

Along about the end of August I start beating my gums in this column and uttering dire warnings as to what will happen if you don't get your bulbs ordered and planted promptly. There is one kind, though, with which the Johnny-com-lately will score over the early bird every time—the bulbous iris. Planted too early, iris bulbs will start growing right off the bat and these early shoots will almost invariably get shipped by winter frosts. Set in the ground in late October or early November, they content themselves with making roots, pushing up no topgrowth until spring.

These bulbs have a most interesting history. It begins in the year 1564 when the Belgian horticulturist Cluysius made a journey through Spain and became acquainted with two varieties of bulbous iris which grow wild in that country.

In his writings he called them iris xiphium, blue, and iris lunatica, yellow. He collected specimens of these bulbs and took them back to Flanders where they took to the Low Countries climate like a duck takes to water.

About 50 years ago, several of the leading commercial bulb growers in Holland used these two Spanish iris bulbs as parents in a hybridizing experiment. The result was an entirely new family of irises, with larger and broader flowers than either of the parents and blooming quite a bit earlier in the season. It is this race which we know as the Dutch iris.

One of the first of these early hybrids is our old friend Wedgwood, a grand old flower and one of the best for forcing and pot culture. It makes large flowers on strong, straight stems with Wedgwood blue standards and falls of a slightly paler shade with a pale yellow blotch.

Imperator, another of the early developments in the Dutch hybridizing program, blooms a little later than Wedgwood in a most beautiful deep blue shade. Both Wedgwood and Imperator are inexpensive bulbs, running around 75 cents a dozen.

Orange King is a grand iris, growing a bit taller than most of its fellows and blooming somewhat later than Wedgwood and Imperator, thereby keeping the show going after the early birds have packed up. The color is a deep orange yellow with out blotches and the bulbs cost about $1 a dozen.

My wife and I have never been able to agree as to which is the best bulbous iris in our collection. Her favorite is one called Gold and Silver and I must admit it is a most graceful flower, with pure silvery white standards and deep orange falls. Incidentally, the standards are the petals which stand upright while the falls are those that droop downward.

I have an idea, though, Agnes's fondness for Gold and Silver is influenced, at least in part, by the fact this variety lasts for a very long time in water and doesn't shed its petals or drip pollen all over the polished furniture. It is a rather high priced bulb—I think ours set us back $1.75 a dozen.

My own choice for first place among the Dutch irises would be between Blue Giant and Bronze Queen. I like the color combination in Blue Giant, with standards of a deep indigo blue and the falls marked with a conspicuous deep orange blotch. Bronze Queen is also a two-tone iris, with bronzy blue standards and falls of a deep bronze shade with a butter yellow blotch. Blue Giant is a fairly recent introduction—I believe it made its debut in 1959—and, like all floral novelties, they cost the earth when they first come out. My bulbs set me back $3 each, although they are much less expensive now. Bronze Beauty can be purchased for $1 a dozen.

ART BUCHWALD Explains Crisis Calm

Commercials Allayed Panic

WASHINGTON — A lot of people have been amazed at how calmly the American people took last week's crisis. There was little panic in spite of the fact that we were on the verge of nuclear war, and people, at least in Washington, kept their sang froid to the bitter end.

We have a theory as to why no one went off the deep end or headed for the hills.

We owe it all to the television commercials which were interspersed in the news programs and bulletins, and made us realize that, no matter how near we came to obliteration, the real menace was not Soviet supply ships or Cuban missile bases, but acid indigestion, halitosis, headaches, and under arm perspiration.

This is how it went as we all sat glued to our television sets, hanging onto every word from the army of commentators.

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. President Kennedy has just announced that the United States will set up a quarantine around the island of Cuba and will fire on any ship, Russian or otherwise, which tries to break through. But before that story, here are some good news for sufferers from sinus headaches."

A turning of the dial found us face to face with a grim-faced Pentagon reporter who said, "War or peace. That was the big question in the Pentagon tonight. The armed services are ready for all-out nuclear attacks, and we'll tell you more about it as soon as we bring you a message from someone who knows something about athlete's foot."

Since we didn't have athlete's foot, we turned the dial again and saw a man standing by a map ringed with battleships.

"This was the situation tonight," he said, pointing to Cuba. "Missile bases with offensive weapons are being built. We'll tell you where in just a moment, after an important announcement from the Glug Drug Co." A woman came on the screen screaming at her child.

"Why are you so nervous?" her friendly friend asked her.

"It's my head," the screaming mother said, holding it in both hands.

"I have just the thing for it," the friend said. "Six-way relief with 12 acting ingredients."

We quickly switched to a fourth channel and heard the announcer say, "And from Mogen we have just received Premier Khrushchev's reaction to President Kennedy's quarantine order. We'll tell you about it in a minute, after this warning for motorists."

Real Menace Not War But Acidity, Halitosis

You can imagine the dilemma. Washington has only four channels, and we still couldn't find out what was going on, so we tuned to the first channel again, only we were too late. The commentators said, "And that's all civil defence experts would say about the shelters. Now, let's talk about overeating and what you're doing about it."

Furiously we switched again only to hear, "M. lines to Florida where an invasion was impending. Are you smoking more but enjoying it less? Maybe it's time you try Red. We started holding our red in our hands just like a woman in the commercial did."

Our wife walked in and said, "What's the latest?"

"Give me a cigarette," we screamed. "I've got a head ache and I have to change my oil before there's a summit meeting and we're all blown up."

"You shouldn't watch the news if it gets you so nervous," she said.

"Who's nervous? Just because I perspire and I use greasy kid stuff on my hair and I suffer from acid indigestion. Is that any reason they won't tell me what's going on?"

"You're exaggerating," she said, flipping the dial.

A face came on the screen and a man was saying, "A thermonuclear war on device, that President Kennedy said victory would be ashes in our hands. And now let's hear a friendly message about those dental plates."

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Fleisch

Have you ever attended a formal meeting of a group? Have you ever served as chairman? Or have you ever sat in the audience and wished you knew more about parliamentary procedure?

Chances are you've often been of order," and so on and so on. The ordinary citizen invariably gets bogged down in the intricacies of this game, and the parliamentary procedure artist gets his own way in obstructive business, waiting time, and have been closed." The motion is out of order.

Brand-New Book

Now there's a brand new book of rules—"Whitney's Parliamentary Procedure" (Lucas) that's a handy weapon in such a situation. Mr. Whitney nowhere tells us where the rules come from and why you have to abide by them (it's just a bundle of ingrained customs, I suspect) but at least he gives us the most modern and up-to-date version, and makes the rules easy to apply. In addition, his book contains a wonderful, new gimmick which I haven't passed on to you.

It is this: Whenever you want to do business quickly and efficiently on an important matter you are afraid to be stymied by some parliamentary rules (budget, get up and utter the magic formula: "I move that the question of such-and-such a way what it is be considered informally." This will have miraculous effects. As soon as the motion is seconded and adopted (by a simple majority) the group will become something like a "committee of the whole." But while a so-called "committee of the whole" has the rule of a different chairman and deliver a report on its proceedings, the group on its own into "informal consideration" keeps the same chairman and does not deliver a report when it is through with its discussion. (Sometimes this is called "quasi-committee of the whole" procedure.)

Without Formalities

Under "informal consideration" the group simply gets down to business debating the problem before it, without bothering about any parliamentary formalities. Changes, amendments and alternative wordings are discussed freely and quickly without the necessity of having every phrase being moved, seconded and repeated from the chair. There are only two basic rules that hold:

1. No member may speak a second time to the same question as long as someone else who hasn't spoken wants to speak first.
 2. Everybody should have his turn and no one should speak longer than 10 minutes at one time.
- I think Mr. Whitney's "informal consideration" is a great forward step in civilization.

BLADDER IRRITATION MAY DISTURB SLEEP

After 21 years as many women as men are made miserable by urinary irritation caused by a germ, bacterium, cystitis. To quickly combat the ordinary acute, muscular pain and disturbed sleep caused by bladder and bladder irritation, try taking an internal CYTOTEX capsule twice for a few days. All you do is take 2 little CYTOTEX tablets with a glass of water. In addition to its clearing anti-inflammatory action, CYTOTEX is also an excellent pain reliever for Rheumatic Pain, Headaches, Neuritis, and muscular pain. Get CYTOTEX from Dr. Green, 700 West 1st St.

Stars Scramble For 'Woolf' Role

By MELBA GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Ingrid Bergman would like to do it in French, and Melina Mercouri wants the rights in Greek. What is it they want so badly? Edward Albee's "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" play, that's what.

Lloyd Nolan, after the wedding of daughter Melinda, took his wife Mel on a honeymoon to Mexico City. The Nolans have been married 25 years.

The Ray Dantonos—she is actress Julie Adams—expect the baby December 10. They'd like a girl to match six-year-old Stephen.

Lucille Ball will be too busy with her new successful TV show to listen to movie offers until next summer. So will Jackie Gleason. I'm told that returning Loretta Young, Sid Caesar and Jack Webb aren't doing as well.

Patti Page and husband Charlie Curran are planning a tour of the Far East where Patti's records sell very well.

Dawn Adams and her estranged Italian husband, Prince Massimo, are fighting more bitterly than ever over their son. The last battle took place right at the school where young Stefano learns his ABC's. "No question of a reconciliation," Dawn writes. The prince returned to Italy, empty-handed. He came for his son, but Dawn came up like thunder.

Anthony Newley, big hit of his Stop the World I Want to Get Off show, has been asked to play Napoleon in Louis Barr's new musical based on Napoleon and Josephine. Barr wrote the book, music and lyrics of Oliver which arrives on Broadway in December.

Henry Fonda will represent those wide-open spaces when his How The West Was Won is premiered in London Thursday. Princess Margaret, who seems to spend many evenings at the movies, will attend the charity event. It's a good thing she enjoys pictures, isn't it?

Cary Grant is making the telephone companies richer, calling Dyan Cannon of The Fun Couple from Paris to New York.

Soldier Freed of Charge

A charge of manslaughter against an 18-year-old PPCLI soldier, Robert Steven Brown, has been dropped. Brown had been committed to Assize Court for trial on the charge following a preliminary hearing in city police court, but the Crown—on instructions from Attorney-General Robert Bonner's department—has entered a stay of proceedings in the case. Evidence was also given that Grant's skull at the point where it fractured was unusually thin, and that Grant had been the aggressor in the incident.

Fireworks Law Tie-In Urged on City Council

City police commission yesterday suggested that city council should get into line with other municipalities which have adopted uniform bylaws to control the sale and use of fireworks.

Chief John Blackstock told the commission meeting that he personally recommended that fireworks sales be banned completely. Failing that, he thought sales should be restricted to the three days preceding Halloween with a stop on sales at 6 p.m. Oct. 31.

SEAT BELTS

Other matters dealt with at the commission meeting:

Chief John Blackstock reported that he has had seat belts installed on four police vehicles as a test.

He said one difficulty in equipping all police vehicles was that men using cars to check property frequently have to stop and leave their vehicles twice or more in a single city block.

Discussion arose following receipt of a letter from the Quarter Miles' Car Club, recommending the use of belts in city police vehicles, and offering to install them free of charge.

FAINTING JOB

Police offices and police court—severely criticized recently by Ald. Michael Griffin—will be repainted, the commission decided. Repairs will be made to the rear door of the courtroom which is dilapidated.

Commission also decided to call tenders for a new police car, radio and siren. Provision for the purchase was made in the police department's budget this year.

BLOW AT VANDALISM

In an attempt to cut down on vandalism inside the city lockup, prisoners in future will not be allowed to keep pens, pencils or cigarette lighters.

Chief Blackstock said matches would be allowed in the jail and if a prisoner wanted to use a pen or pencil it would be supplied by the jailer.

An auction of unclaimed bicycles and lost property will be held at 10 a.m. Nov. 17 at 510 Johnson Street.

Given Seniors Bowling Bid

Senior citizens wishing winter activity and interested in lawn bowling are asked to contact the Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling Club, 720 Belleville Street, by phoning A. V. Walte, EV 5-0759.

Garbage Bag Scheme Found Uneconomical

A new garbage disposal method involving bags which line garbage cans was investigated some time ago by the Oak Bay municipal engineer and found uneconomical.

Municipal Engineer Geoffrey White reported his investigations to the Oak Bay works committee Tuesday because of interest shown lately by Victoria and Saanich councils in the method.

Hotel Issue to Conciliation

A contract dispute between 400 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers' Union and the Empress Hotel will go to conciliation. Union negotiator J. R. Grealy said the company and Victoria Local 276 had failed to agree over a new wage contract. He termed the company's offer "ridiculous" but added the union is open to a new offer at any time.

BIG GEORGE! By Virgil Partch

"For Pete's sake, George, I'm trying to bake a cake!"

Executives Given French Course

MONTREAL (CP)—Ten English-speaking men with little or no knowledge of French are serving as guinea pigs in an eight-week crash program designed to teach them conversational French.

The program, taking place within the shadow of the University of Montreal, could have far-reaching effects on Quebec's business community.

METHOD NOT NEW

The method by which the men are being taught is not altogether new. The French government has been using it for the last five years, but this is the first time it has been tried in North America. It is designed specifically for conversation and guaranteed to provide a fundamental knowledge of French in two months of intensive study, five days a week, eight hours a day.

The men are junior executives of Dominion Tar and Chemical Company, which launched a campaign to encourage bilingualism among its employees.

If the experiment proves successful—and company officials feel it will—Dominion Tar plans to adopt the program on a permanent basis.

The system by which the men are being taught is called voix et images—voice and images—and was developed by the St. Cloud Normal School of Paris for the French government. The teacher, brought from St. Cloud especially for the experiment, is Miss Sabine Raillard.

Basically, the system consists of two stages. Firstly, the students sit in a darkened room, watching slides flashed on a screen and listening to a description of the activity over a loud speaker. At the end of each session they are asked to repeat what had been said, using proper tense and pronunciation. Secondly, they hear proper French, try to imitate it on tape recordings and then listen to their efforts played back.

RESULTS AMAZING

When half of the eight-week course was completed the results were considered somewhat amazing. Men from Ontario who had not been exposed to French before already had learned basic pronunciation.

Four residents of Quebec, who felt unable to speak French before the course, had so far surpassed the rest of the class that they had to be separated from it.

Miss Raillard attributed this to their exposure to French in Quebec which attuned their ears to the sound of the language.

Lauren Bacall, Hubby Resist Tame Scripts

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jason Robards and wife Lauren Bacall are resisting temptation.

"We don't want to go out just to make some money," he says of spurning bids for a joint appearance on stage or screen.

That billing has been a prospect ever since the Broadway star and the Hollywood siren

wed last year after an intercontinental courtship.

In the canon of show business, such real-life romance is fondly cherished as a sure source of box-office joy. But Robards has an even greater belief in the play being the thing.

"Oh, they'd like it," says the jut-jawed actor. "They send over scripts to read. And they're terrible. Nothing really good has come along.

"Sure, we've talked about doing something together — but first you've got to find it.

"Just to do something wouldn't work. It can't."

SIX KIDS

Until that right show comes along, the couple have plenty to

galing customers in A Thousand

conformity. Miss Bacall is supervising the beehive activities of a household that includes six children—three his and two hers by previous marriage, plus their

The sultry-voiced Miss Bacall, who quit filmland after the death of Humphrey Bogart and who was last seen on stage here

Goodbye, Charlie, contributed

one wifely mite to Robard's

drama was Jason's background.

So from her own song-and-dance training she instructed

step.

Another exhibition of Robards' acting soon to be unveiled to the public is contained in the film version of Long Day's Journey into Night. The screen adapta-

thumous Pulitzer Prize for Eugene O'Neill is to be released in December.

It is the fourth movie in which Robards has appeared—and the first to give him a high measure of satisfaction.

Terrorist

In Subway

NEW YORK (AP) — A man

brandishing a hand grenade

terrorized subway passengers

BULLET-PROOF SUIT

The man repeatedly threatened to pull the pin of the grenade and throw it. But inspection later showed it to be harmless.

HIT BY FIVE BULLETS

fied as Jerry Hartman, 21, a Negro, was hit by five bullets.

He was treated at hospital and removed to Bellevue Hospital's psychiatric ward. His condition was fair.

Courtroom Parade

Three young men who stole cars overnight Tuesday were arrested by police early yesterday and appeared in city police court house later.

One of the three was fined $100, another was sentenced to two months in jail and the third, involved in a similar case now before Saanich court, was remanded to Nov. 9 for sentence.

Mark G. Dickinson and Harvey Regan, both of Work Point Barracks, were jointly charged with stealing a car in Victoria and Magistrate William Ostler was told they crashed the vehicle just west of the Johnson Street bridge, causing some $150 damage.

James Sprague, 2215 Edgewood, was sentenced to two months in jail for a similar offence.

Court was told Sprague took the car from a parking lot in the 700 block Broughton overnight and was stopped at about 4 a.m. by Oak Bay police who turned him over to the city.

In Sooke RCMP court Tuesday a Victoria man was fined a total of $50 for three game offences.

Wayne Brown, 2813 Gosworth, was fined $10 for going on enclosed land with a firearm, $15 for angling without a licence and $25 for giving incorrect information to a conservation officer.

Sidney Leblanc of Sooke was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place and Pierre Pedneault of Sooke was fined $25 for failing to file an income tax return.

Counterfeit Bank Notes Still Plentiful

OTTAWA (CP)—A member of the RCMP's central bureau said Wednesday that the circulation of counterfeit Canadian bank notes shows no signs of decreasing.

Corporal James Nisbet of the RCMP's crime detection laboratory told the Canadian Society of Forensic Science that counterfeiting first became a serious problem in Canada in March, 1959, with the appearance in quantity of phony $10 bills.

Since that time a total of 51,000 counterfeits with a face value of $650,000 have been turned over to the central bureau. The 51,000 counterfeit bills include 18 different series of fake bank notes.

"Counterfeiting is apparently going to be with us for some time," Cpl. Nisbet said.

Damage $50 Hourly Since 1923

OTTAWA (UPI) — Damage caused by Sons of Freedom terrorists in British Columbia has continued at an average rate of $1,500 per day since 1923, Senator Thomas Reid said yesterday.

"I just don't know what the solution of the Sons of Freedom problem is," Sen. Reid told the Upper House. "But it isn't the appointment of a parliamentary committee. These people are against government in all forms, and a parliamentary committee would constitute government in their eyes. They wouldn't respect it and it would be totally ineffective."

Pearson Suggests

Warsaw NATO Meeting

OTTAWA (UPI) — Liberal Leader Pearson proposed Wednesday night a meeting of the NATO powers and the Warsaw pact powers to seek a further easing of East-West tensions.

In a nationally televised address on the CBC, Mr. Pearson also said the time has come for NATO—and for Canada as a member of NATO—to re-examine its whole defence strategy.

CANNOT BE REPARATED

Western Europe now was much better able to look after its own defence, and the Cuban crisis had shown "once again" that the security of the western hemisphere cannot be separated from that of the whole Atlantic region.

"The two should be more closely brought together in NATO than they are at present," continued the former external affairs minister, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1956 and one-time president of the United Nations General Assembly.

TO EASE TENSIONS

After the re-examination of defence policies, "and if there is no additional crisis, then I think that perhaps there should be a meeting of the NATO powers and the Communist Warsaw pact powers to see what further steps, if any, could be taken to ease tensions generally in Western Europe, and in other parts of the world."

Up Island

Dummy Worst Prank

NANAIMO — A life-like dummy hung from Nanaimo River Bridge by pranksters last night topped the list of reported pranks played by Vancouver Island roving truck-artists.

Elsewhere on the island RCMP detachments reported the usual Halloween pranks but youngsters seemed to be short of original ideas.

The dummy was reported to police by a motorist. Several passing cars nearly ran off the bridge while looking at the hanging dummy. The highway department was called out to cut the road hazard down.

Mighty Task Points Only To Power

PORTAGE MOUNTAIN, B.C.—The crisp silhouette of snowcapped peaks slices the horizon into jagged fragments and the chill winds of looming winter whisper through the walls of Peace River Canyon—and are lost against the clamor of 750 strong men moving a mountain.

Nehru Drops Menon

CP from Reuters-AP

NEW DELHI—Prime Minister Nehru took over the post of defence minister from controversial V. K. Krishna Menon Wednesday amid reports of a new Indian offensive in the Red Chinese-Indian border conflict.

Krishna Menon, who was appointed to the lesser post of minister of defence production and will remain a cabinet minister, has been the target of recent criticism that Indian troops were unprepared to cope with Communist Chinese attacks.

INDIFFERENCE

The Hindustan Times said Tuesday some members of the ruling Congress party had strongly urged Nehru to replace Krishna Menon.

The paper said some members were understood to have accused Krishna Menon of negligence and indifference in his handling of the defence ministry post.

UNDERESTIMATED

In the independent Statesman Peter Alvarez, a leading member of the Praja Socialist party, said Krishna Menon "either underestimated the enemy, did not understand the elements of defence, or just did not have his heart in his job."

The cabinet shuffle coincided with reports of a new Indian offensive in the eastern sector of the disputed 2,500-mile frontier. Asked about reports the Chinese were shooting Indian prisoners, the spokesman said he would like to check before giving any information.

None Injured In Pipe Blast

CALGARY (CP)—A 30-foot section of the Alberta natural gas pipeline broke Wednesday night, blowing a 20-foot deep crater in a farmer's field near Innisfail, Alta.

There were no injuries in the blast. A company spokesman said the 24-inch line was operating at a pressure of 750-800 pounds per square inch.

By 1972 when 200-mile-long Peace River hydro project reservoir is scheduled to reach its ultimate level this landscape immediately upstream of Portage Mountain Dam will be all but gone. Site of construction bridge spanning Peace above canyon will be under several hundred feet of water and view from point where this photo was taken will be of island sea with only to hills rising in background. — (Gunnar Johnson)

Halloween Hectic But Mainly Sane

Greater Victoria youth turned Halloween 1962 into a rocking-and-rolling, water and bubble-bath spree last night when faced with an all-out concentration of security forces.

Up until press time this morning, police considered that the annual outburst of noise and destruction had been the sanest in years.

But the November dawn was expected to bring to light a rash of vandalism undiscovered under the cover of darkness.

The rocking:

Worst incidents of the evening were reported in Saanich, where a group of 15 vandals toured in the area of the 500 block Baxter, rocking parked cars until they overturned. Total number of overturned vehicles was not known.

No One Can Doubt

Through this setting the slate grey waters of the Peace alternately billow and glide toward the great lakes of Canada's northwest. A thin, hazy, and Great Slave, and then into the Mackenzie River to finally spend their fabulous power potential in the Beaufort Sea.

No person standing here can seriously doubt that B.C. will harness this mighty river and few would wager that the 24-hour-a-day pace of today's construction crews will ever slacken.

The frantic haste of all phases of the project launched as far afield as the notion that the program on the Peace is simply an interruptible show of force designed to give B.C. a strong hand in the Columbia poker game.

Hand Now Strong

The Columbia hand in any case needs no strengthening. Unless the U.S. agrees to terms which give B.C. the three regulatory dams for nothing, plus 2,000,000 horsepower at Mica Creek, the Columbia remains uncontrolled north of the border and the Americans lose 3,400,000 horsepower.

And no show of force requires the $30,000,000 which B.C. has already spent or is committed for on the Peace.

The Portage Mountain project is going ahead and it is going ahead flat out in spite of the fact that not a penny of long-term borrowing for it has so far been finalized.

Violence Erupts In Three Cities

By Canadian Press

Serious violence erupted in three Canadian cities last night as ugly, keeling Halloween mobs pelted firemen with eggs and fireworks in Kamloops, B.C., and stormed the police station in Kingston, Ont.

And in Vancouver police took a half-hour to break up a gang of youths in a melee which resulted in a woman being pushed through a store window.

Police finally dispersed the crowd by firing a tear-gas pellet into the midst.

The Kamloops mob lifted cars from the street and man-handled them onto sidewalks. Firemen returning from a minor call were pelted with eggs.

The violence started when teenage crowds gathered downtown after a children's party in a park celebrating the city's 150th birthday.

The children started to crawl under a motionless string of cars and Albert went through first.

MISSILES OUT FRIDAY —THANT

But Cuba Vetoes Inspection by UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant returned from his Cuban peace mission Wednesday night and declared he was reliably informed all Soviet missiles would be dismantled by Friday and out of Cuba soon afterwards.

The secretary-general, however, apparently had failed in his efforts to get Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to agree to any form of UN inspection to verify the removal of the missiles.

Thant's chartered plane from Argentina To Bewilderment—Crisis Inside Cuba—Page 5

touched down at New York's Idlewild Airport amid developments which indicated the Cuban crisis had taken a critical turn.

In his airport statement Thant made no mention of his apparent rebuff by Castro. He stressed the dismantling of the Soviet missile bases and plans for withdrawal of the missiles.

MORE QUARANTINE

Shortly before Thant's return, the White House announced that the U.S. naval arms quarantine of Cuba would be reinstated this morning and aerial surveillance of the Soviet missile sites in Cuba would start again.

In what seemed to be another emergency move, the Soviet Union sent Anastas Mikoyan, first Soviet deputy premier, on a hurried trip to Cuba via London and New York. He is due in Havana Friday.

Thant described his talks in Havana as "fruitful." He said

Southern Rhodesia

UN Demands Constitution Be Annulled

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly voted overwhelmingly Wednesday night to demand annulment of Southern Rhodesia's constitution on grounds that it discriminated against Africans.

The 81-to-two vote came just three minutes before 3 p.m. PST, when Southern Rhodesia's prime minister, Sir Edgar Whitehead, declared the constitution, adopted in 1961, went into force.

The assembly asked Britain and Acting Secretary-General U Thant to intervene, annul the constitution and arrange for a new one which would give greater political rights to the 3,000,000 Negroes in the British territory.

Supporters of the measure said race violence would flare higher unless the Negroes obtain more than 15 seats in the 65-seat legislature. The other 50 seats would go to representatives of the 250,000 European settlers in the area.

Britain insisted in debates that have continued here for a year that Southern Rhodesia has been a self-governing territory since 1923 and that Britain could not interfere in Southern Rhodesia affairs.

Welensky's Party Challenged at Polls

LUSAKA (Reuters) — Negro, Kenneth Kaunda, leader of the United National Independence Party, has won his seat in the Northern Rhodesian general election with a big majority.

With more than half the 46 seats decided following Tuesday's voting, the results Wednesday showed a close race between the UNIP and federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky's United Federal Party.

Other parties were trailing far behind.

The UFP won 12 predominantly white contests for the 15 "upper roll" seats in the 46-member legislature. The UNIP has already won nine of the declared seats on the 15-seat "lower roll" which consists almost entirely of Negro voters.

This was the first general election under Northern Rhodesia's new constitution and the first in which Negro voters outnumbered whites. Observers said returns so far indicated the voting followed racial lines.

UFP officials were encouraged by the surprise defeat in a predominantly Negro district of Solomon Kalulu, national chairman of Kaunda's UNIP.

Addict Help 'Useless'

Former Jail Matron:

Hang All the Dope Pedlars!

NANAIMO (CP)—Florence Hutchison, retired matron of Montreal's Protestant women's jail, says all dope pedlars—and women who lure girls into prostitution—should be hanged.

In an address to the Kiwands Club, Mrs. Hutchison said there was no use wasting public funds building institutions for drug addicts.

"There is no such thing as a cure for them because they don't want to be cured. They suffer pains of remorse the first few days they are in prison because they can't get any more drugs.

"Once they're released they haven't gone 500 yards before someone meets them with a fresh supply."

Mrs. Hutchison, who took her prison training at Holloway Jail in London, came to Canada in 1914. She retired in 1946 after serving as matron for 14 years. She moved here last year.

"When I think how some women take young girls and turn them into prostitutes, I could pull the trigger myself," she told the club.

Ipswich Manager Demands, Gets Free Hand

England Bids to Regain Prestige with Ramsey

LONDON (Special) — Alf Ramsey, the man who made Ipswich Town champion of English football with a shoestring budget and a team of castoffs, has accepted his toughest challenge—turning England into a world champion in less than four years.

His surprise but widely-cherished appointment as successor to Walter Winterbottom in one of the hot seats of international soccer ended a brief but frantic search for a manager to launch a "crash" program aimed directly at producing a World Cup winner.

In accepting a task many feel he will require the magic he performed at Ipswich, Ramsey made it clear that he will be his own boss and rule as dictator of English soccer. He has signed no contract but a salary in excess of $15,000 a year will put him at the top of the elite bracket.

New Football Association chairman Graham Duggart said Ramsey would take "full responsibility" for the England team—including selection. The FA plans to disband its influential nine-man selection committee to allow Ramsey to direct with an iron hand.

But Ramsey, one of the nation's highest-paid managers during his remarkable reign at Ipswich, has dismissed the lucrative attraction of money as unimportant. His main reason for accepting the job was the challenge.

"As England's manager I will expect to be judged by the standards applied to a club manager... failure is followed by replacement."

The 40-year-old Ramsey has seldom known failure in a sparkling career that began as a professional at Southampton 20 years ago. He was fullback and captain of Tottenham's wonder team of the early 1950s and earned the nickname "general" for his cool and analytical approach to the game.

When Ramsey joined Ipswich in 1955, he inherited a struggling third division club with no money and little talent. Within six seasons Ipswich had won the third, second and first division titles and moved into the European Cup competition, one of the world's toughest.

His success was measured in the way he secured results. Ramsey's philosophy is: "Football is a simple game and I have never wished to embroil it." He is not likely to depart from his time-tested formula of confining his players to the ability of his theories in preparing England for the future.

"Any plan must be adapted to the strengths and weaknesses of the players and must be acceptable to them," he said in outlining his plan. "That is the secret of football planning."

Ramsey believes England as a "wonderful" chance of winning the 1966 world cup tournament, partly because the team will have no acclimatization problem since the championship will be played on English soil.

He plans to tour the nation to solicit the help of the leading managers, indicating he will seek advice inside the game and not outside of it.

Ramsey has warned there will be no place for any player, no matter how great his ability, who is not prepared to "show determination and will to succeed."

Ramsey's selection marked a dramatic departure from F.A. policy. The association set out to find a personality outside the "upper crust" with no apparent success. More than 60 applications were rejected and Burnley playing-captain Bill Adamson turned down an approach before the F.A. abandoned its policy and negotiated for Ramsey.

His appointment was hailed with a unanimity seldom demonstrated in professional sport here. Football league president Joe Richards pledged "100 per cent cooperation—he has only to tell us his requirements."

Ramsey's biggest job will be to weld the considerable talent available into a winning team and inject new confidence into an international team that has been pushed into the shadows by the upsurge of European and South American soccer.

In two games this year, England has been held to a 1-1 draw at home against France in the European nations cup and beaten Northern Ireland, 3-1, in Belfast with a vastly changed team that gave only patchy performance.

He also must overcome a continuing struggle between demands of club and interests of country. But Ipswich chairman John Cobbold, reluctant to lose Ramsey, may have set the tone for future relations between club and country in granting him his leave.

"We didn't want to lose him. But England is bigger than Ipswich."

'Spurs Bounce Rangers, 5-2

LONDON (AP) — Tottenham Hotspur of England drubbed Glasgow Rangers of Scotland 5-2 Wednesday in the first of the two-game series for the European Soccer Cup Winners' Cup.

Second game will be played in Glasgow, Dec. 5. A capacity crowd of 65,000, including thousands of Scottish fans, packed the White Hart Lane Stadium. Tottenham led 4-1 at half-time.

Thousands of Scottish fans made the trip to London to cheer for the Rangers.

The London team, inspired by former Milan player Timmie Green, roared into the attack from the start and did most of the pressing.

Tottenham went into the lead in the fourth minute when Jimmie Greaves sent the ball across the goal mouth and John White headed in from six yards.

A defensive mistake led the Rangers to tie the score after seven minutes. Dave Wilson of the Rangers threw from the half-way line with the Tottenham defenders out of position. Ralph Brand turned the ball toward the goal and Willie Henderson rushed in to bang the ball over the line.

Greaves sent Tottenham back into the lead direct from a corner kick. The ball curled in under the bar and goalier Bill Ritchie helped it into the net as White challenged him.

Les Allen made it a free run for Tottenham with a spectacular header after a move started by Danny Blanchflower.

Greaves scored Tottenham's fourth goal with a low drive from eight yards in the third minute. Straight from kickoff, Jim Miller hit back with a goal for Rangers to make it 4-2. Tottenham added the final goal in the second half.

SAND PROBLEMS GOT YOU DOWN?

Sand trap troubles can be solved. Here's how:

Use a sand wedge and open your stance, as I'm doing in illustration 1. Play the ball on a line off the left instep. Let your arms and shoulders supply the power.

Let the clubhead hit the sand on an inch behind the ball, and make the downswing sharply, so that the clubhead goes under, not into, the ball. Follow through firmly.

Mounties Not Sure They're Still Alive

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Mounties, flirting with oblivion in the Pacific Coast Baseball League, must be wondering who's on first in their right ownerships "and we can't do that."

Twins were parent club of the debt-ridden Mounties last season, but yesterday in Minneapolis, Sherry Robertson, their farm director, said Twins had severed connections with Mounties and were dicker with Dallas-Fort Worth of the American Association.

PREMATURE?

Previously, Twins had said they would stick with Mounties if the Vancouver club could get out of its financial difficulties. Mountie president George Norgan, upon hearing of Robertson's announcement, immediately phoned Twins' president Cal Griffith, who, according to Norgan, denied the club was dicker with Dallas-Fort Worth, "and gave Robertson hell for announcing it."

Norgan claimed Griffith left him with the hope that a new agreement might eventually be signed. But Robertson, reached in a telephone interview, was much less enthusiastic, claiming Mounties wanted Minnesota to operate the club, but that Twins already have two outstanding ownerships "and we can't do that."

Norgan replied that no one wants Minnesota to handle the Mounties.

"Sure we have debts, but we'll look after that," he said. "No matter what Robertson says, I'm encouraged."

And there the matter rests, no further ahead than it was two days ago. Vancouver still doesn't know whether it will have baseball next year.

Claremont XI Moves Near Title Chance

Claremont High School's soccer team, hoping for a long-shot chance at the B.C. championship, whipped North Saanich, 10-0, yesterday in district semi-finals.

Claremont now plays either Milne's Landing or Belmont to decide a district championship.

At the moment it is not known for sure if there will be a B.C. final this year, but if there is, the district winner will play the Colonist Cup champions to see which club takes on the Vancouver winner in the provincial final.

Russ Ball scored four goals, David Tribe added two, and Ross Cumberland, Richie Kitto, Joe Milligan and Bruce Graham scored one yesterday at North Saanich.

Big winners in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest will be drawn today, but their names will be kept secret until Sunday morning's paper.

Some 15,470 tickets on all many fish will be placed in a huge drum this afternoon and mixed thoroughly.

ALL-IMPORTANT

Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo will pick out the all-important ticket, which then will be processed. The number will be matched with a King Fisherman entry form and circulation department officials will check to see if the person who caught the fish was a Colonist subscriber when he caught it.

OFFERED CHOICE

If he or she is a subscriber, he will be offered the choice of a Canadian Pacific Airline all-expenses-paid vacation for two in Japan, a weekend camping-fishing trip for two with a Vancouver Island Helicopters whirlybird at his command or a 12-foot carport Thornes aluminum boat.

Next tickets will be awarded the other prizes.

Modern Ancient

Like a Roman legions during the last days of Pompeii, Christopher Mills, 9, 1288 St. David, is silhouetted against night's bonfire at last night's outdoor Halloween celebration in Oak Bay.

Fires, Parties Lure Throngs

The smell of gunpowder and bonfires hung heavy over Greater Victoria last night as everyone from kiddies to civic leaders joined in Halloween festivities.

Pin-sized ghosts and witches swarmed all over town, running from door to door to get their paper bags filled with goodies.

Firecrackers and Roman candles were going off everywhere. The flickering, orange glow of numerous bonfires lighted the night sky.

Many parents held fireworks displays in their own back yards.

Some children carried Save the Children Fund collection tins on their trick-or-treat rounds. Mrs. W. W. McGill, local representative, reported early in the evening a private school had turned in $435 and two boys turned in $35.10 and $21.88.

There were large, organized parties from Sooke to Central Saanich.

At Oak Bay's Firemen's Park, a giant bonfire of construction leftovers and tires, augmented by newspapers brought by enthusiastic kiddies, licked toward the sky while the music of Fred Unsworth's Howtowners resounded in the background.

Three-foot-high pirates did the twist beside four-foot witches, skeletons and ghosts, while uncostumed teenagers stood about and kept up a steady din of exploding fireworks.

An estimated 1,700 persons attended the festivities. Kiddies consumed all 600 hot dogs available and could have handled plenty more, said Don Johnston, chairman of the Oak Bay Kiwanis committee which organized festivities along with municipal firemen.

Costume Winners

In costume-judging in the age one-to-four division, prizes for best-dressed girl and best-dressed boy were both won by girls. Jess Williams dressed up as a boy and Denise Blings won in the distaff division.

Other winners were: five and six girls, Georgia-Lee Hendry, boys Barry Moore, seven and eight girls, Laurie Clapp, boys Michael Winton; nine to 12 girls, Kim Mills, boys, Christopher Mills; best couple, Bonnie Greening and Gail Brittain.

Oak Bay councillor Allan Cox, wearing no disguise but a hurried look, was noted leading five costumed small types, strung out like ducklings, through the park. Only two, he said, were his.

Meanwhile, 180 boys and their brothers and sisters jammed the headquarters of the women party.

Dimes for All

At Bullen Park in Esquimalt, Lions Club officials lined all the children in costume in a row and gave each a dime. Paymaster was James Bryant, a Lions Club member and senior councillor on Esquimalt council.

They went through 300 hot dogs and as many bags of candy in 45 minutes, said Alex Ryves, William Whitehead dished out the hot dogs.

Behind the Langford firehall deputy fire chief Allan LeQuene touched a match to a huge gas-soaked bonfire. It went up with a big "whoop," he said.

Mrs. Jean Boulter supervised Langford PTA members Mary Caffery, Mary Peden, Margaret Collyn, Mona Kinnear and Mrs. Sandy Hardisty in preparation of treats for about 75 children.

Six-year-old Peter Kupiak, dressed as a huge orange pumpkin, had the best costume. His sister, Heather, 7, won first place in the preschool category for her angel costume. Ricky Berry won the primary class award and Mary Cotter the intermediate.

Mrs. Pieta Bullena from Holland, attending her first Halloween party in Canada, had her three children in the Langford costume contest, Betty 6, Robert 4, and Sandra 2.

At the Colwood firehall, Robert Wishart on duty in the alarm room played records through a public address system. Chief Dick Emery, assisted by firemen Ken Robinson and Ernest Collier, had the difficult job of judging costumes.

Hazel Ellwood said some of the costume winners were Denise Foster, Susan Ridley, Richard Barker, James Seister, Christine Houghton and Mark Ridley.

At Metchem, firemen put on a fireworks display for about 300 children and 100 adults. There was also a big bonfire and treats for all the children, said fireman Bill Reid.

Gypsies Raid Manse

Dressed as rattle-tattle gypsies, sisters Eve, Susan and Mary Meszaros, 5, 5 and 13, ask for shell-outs at the house of Rev. J. H. James. Peeking from behind are Mr. James's children, Debbie, 11, and Kenzie, 3.

No Hands No Handicap

Big Program Set For Bowen Park

Faulty Radar Bars Pupils From School

CAMPBELL RIVER—Sixty-seven Quadra Island students who attend Campbell River High School had to be kept home for three days recently because radar equipment broke down on the ferry Quadra Queen, trustee Mrs. R. V. Luoma of Quadra Island has informed the local school board.

A navigation law states the ferry cannot operate without radar, she said, and fog is usual in the area at this time of year.

Trustees agreed to write to provincial engineer P. B. McCarty asking for an immediate remedy. Mrs. Luoma also suggested emergency radar on the ferry, which crosses two-mile Discovery Passage.

They will be supplied with water from the village source, which is chlorinated, until a new water system is installed.

The board also agreed to ask the new Quinsam Heights water board to supply a two-inch water main to the school. Installation of the new district's system is to begin in late January. Mrs. Luoma also said six weeks.

NANAIMO—The civic properties and recreation commission has prepared an elaborate, all-inclusive 10-year program for the development of Bowen Park, which will be presented to the city council next week.

MANY FACILITIES

Proposals include establishment of such facilities as drive-ways and roads, parking and picnic areas, baseball, tennis courts, lawn bowling greens, swimming and spray pool, horseshoe and checkers pitch, pitch and putt course, playing fields, ice rinks, trails, gardens, groves, duck pond and maintenance and field house.

Water from city mains would be supplemented by water from the river.

NO COST ESTIMATE

No estimate of cost is being given but commission chairman Harry Wipper emphasizes the intention to spread the work and cost over a considerable period of time.

He added: "I would not like to say how much it will cost, it might scare the council too much. But it is not a short-term project and it will grow as service clubs and organizations take an interest and as we develop the area."

NOT HAPPY

Mr. Wipper and other members of the commission are not happy about the announcement the commission is going to be asked to contribute $112,500 toward labor costs of the winter works program for Bowen Park.

The figures have been approved by city council but Mr. Wipper says the commission is not prepared to accept the arrangement, because it has never been asked to pay any part of similar labor costs, and they have not been budgeted for.

Parley Backs Island School Salary Scale

LADYSMITH—Joint salary committee of the Vancouver Island Teachers Association and the Vancouver Island Trustees Association arrived at a basic salary schedule for 1963 at a meeting in Quinlan School at Nanaimo.

This announcement was made at the District 67 School Board office here yesterday by trustee Alex Smith, meeting chairman.

The schedule now goes before each school district for approval. Figures will be released after such approval is given. The committee will meet again Tuesday to discuss possible joint agreement on other items contained in the salary schedule.

The decision affects all of the Island except Greater Victoria.

No Increase Expected In Reward for Slayer

Attorney-General Bonner said Wednesday it is unlikely the government will add to the reward for information leading to the arrest or conviction of the slayer of two persons that now totals $1,800. Leslie Dixon and Diane Phipps, both 19, were fatally shot Oct. 17.

Firecrackers Taken Into 'Enemy' Camp

By Ted Shackleford

DAKEDVHM: All those warnings about police crack-downs on kids setting off firecrackers by the street paid off in an odd way yesterday afternoon. When we dropped into police headquarters about 4 p.m., we passed a group of youngsters selling crackers off right under Chief Constable John Blackstock's office window, at the main entrance to the police station.

NO SALE: There's a certain "rush" about which always seems to have "SALE" signs in its windows but they might be missing one day soon for one day. Don Craig, 2518 Kilgarry Place, recklessly promised wife Margaret a $10 bill if he could just drive past the store one day and not see the perpetual signs in the window. So Margaret is thinking, shiraleveah. But when our lot offering to spend $10 in the friend gave her destination as store if the owner will take the signs out for the one day.

SUNNY MONEY PAPER: We've heard a little rumour that the new newspaper beginning in Vancouver shortly is named by Social Credit cash. It's an intriguing thought. Premier Bennett for a long time has been braying that tired old drum that the papers of the province are against him.

FORMAL: Woman we know ordered a cab the other warm day and when it arrived the driver was sitting there in the perpetual signs in the window. So Margaret is thinking, shiraleveah. But when our lot offering to spend $10 in the friend gave her destination as the staid old Empress Hotel her driver muttered "Oh, I guess then I'd better put my coat on," and he did.

BEST POLICY: Lake Cowichan resident Mrs. Karl French is convinced that Victoria residents are honest and obliging after her experience the other day. She used a phone booth in a downtown department store and left her purse behind when she went. A moment or two later, when she had noticed her loss and made her way back to the store, she found a woman near the phone with the purse waiting for her to return. "I was going to wait a little longer and then I would have sent it to your address," the woman said.

PINBALLS: City lawyer we know contends that pinball machines in some areas of Victoria are clearly illegal as they pay off in one way or another.

Sect Damage $50 Hourly Since 1923

OTTAWA (UPI) — Damage caused by Sons of Freedom terrorists in British Columbia has continued at an average rate of $1,500 per day since 1923, Senator Thomas Hall said yesterday.

"I just don't know what the solution of the Sons of Freedom problem is," Sen. Hall told the Upper House. "But it isn't the appointment of a parliamentary committee. These people are against government in all forms, and a parliamentary committee would constitute government in their eyes. They wouldn't respect it and it would be totally ineffective."

Pearson Suggests

Warsaw NATO

Meeting

OTTAWA (UPI) — Liberal Leader Pearson proposed Wednesday night a meeting of NATO powers and the Warsaw pact powers to seek a further easing of East-West tensions.

In a nationally televised address on the CBC, Mr. Pearson also said the time has come for NATO—and for Canada as a member of NATO—to re-examine its whole defence strategy.

CANNOT BE REPARATED

Western Europe, now was much better able to look after its own defence, and the Cuban crisis had shown "once again" that the security of the western hemisphere cannot be separated from that of the whole Atlantic region.

"The two should be more closely brought together in NATO than they are at present," continued the former external affairs minister, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1956 and one-time president of the United Nations General Assembly.

TO EASE TENSIONS

After the re-examination of defence policies, "and if there is no additional crisis, then I think that perhaps there should be a meeting of the NATO powers and the Communist Warsaw pact powers to seek what further steps, if any, could be taken to ease tensions generally in Western Europe, and in other parts of the world."

Mighty Task Points Only To Power

PORTAGE MOUNTAIN, B.C.—The crisp silhouette of snowcapped peaks slices the horizon into jagged fragments and the chill winds of looming winter whisper through the walls of Peace River Canyon—and are lost against the clamor of 750 strong men moving a mountain.

Nehru Drops Menon

CP from Reuters-AP

NEW DELHI—Prime Minister Nehru took over the post of defence minister from controversial V. K. Krishna Menon Wednesday amid reports of a new Indian offensive in the Red Chinese-Indian border conflict.

Krishna Menon, who was appointed to the lesser post of minister of defence production and will remain a cabinet minister, has been the target of recent criticism that Indian troops were unprepared to cope with Communist Chinese attacks.

UNDERESTIMATED

The Hindustan Times said Tuesday some members of the ruling Congress party had strongly urged Nehru to replace Krishna Menon.

The paper said some members were understood to have accused Krishna Menon of negligence and indifference in his handling of the defence ministry post.

In the independent Statesman, Peter Alvarez, a leading member of the Praja Socialist party, said Krishna Menon "either underestimated the enemy, did not understand the elements of defence, or just did not have his heart in his job."

The cabinet shuffle coincided with reports of a new Indian offensive in the eastern sector of the disputed 2,500-mile frontier.

Asked about reports the Chinese were shunting Indian prisoners, the spokesman said he would like to check before giving any information.

None Injured In Pipe Blast

CALGARY (UPI) — A 30-foot section of the Alberta natural gas pipeline broke Wednesday night, blowing a 20-foot deep crater in a farmer's field near Innisfail, Alta.

There were no injuries in the blast. A company spokesman said the 24-inch line was operating at a pressure of 750-800 pounds per square inch.

Two hundred feet beneath the rock on which you stand crews of hardrock miners blast and hammer at the sheer face of three tunnels, each big enough to handle a pair of express trains.

Could Hide Express

Beside you, men, machines and dynamite are ripping out of the living rock a river diversion channel in which you could already hide the Empress Hotel.

To your right giant concrete compressors are forcing concrete 200 feet deep into bedrock to seal hairline fissures formed perhaps 100,000,000 years ago.

This is the scene today at the site of the Portage Mountain Dam where B.C. Hydro is constructing the largest earth fill power installation in North America and the second largest in the world.

No One Can Doubt

Through this setting the slate grey waters of the Peace alternately billow and glide toward the great lakes of Canada's northwest.

No person standing here can seriously doubt that B.C. will harness this mighty river and flow would wage that the 21-hour-a-day pace of today's construction crews will ever slacken.

The frantic haste of all phases of the project launched so far dispels the notion that the program on the Peace is simply an interruptible show of force designed to give B.C. a strong hand in the Columbia poker game.

Hand Now Strong

The Columbia hand in any case needs no strengthening. Unless the U.S. agrees to terms which give B.C. the three regulatory dams for nothing, plus 2,000,000 horsepower at Mica Creek, the Columbia remains uncontrolled north of the border and the Americans lose 3,000,000 horsepower.

And so show of force requires the $37,000,000 which B.C. has already spent or is committed for on the Peace.

The Portage Mountain project is going ahead and it is going ahead flat, out in spite of the fact that not a penny of long-term borrowing for it has so far been finalized.

Halloween Hectic But Mainly Sane

Greater Victoria youth turned Halloween 1962 into a rocking-and-rolling, water and bubble-bath spree last night when faced with an all-out concentration of security forces.

Up until press time this morning, police considered that the annual outburst of noise and destruction had been the sanest in years.

But the November dawn was expected to bring to light a rash of vandalism undiscovered under the cover of darkness.

The rocking: Worst incidents of the evening were reported in Saanich, where a group of 15 vandals toured in the area of the 500 block Baxter, rocking parked cars until they overturned. Total number of overturned vehicles was not known.

Violence Erupts In Three Cities

By Canadian Press

Serious violence erupted in three Canadian centres last night as ugly, jeering Halloween mobs pelted firemen with eggs and fireworks in Kamloops, B.C., and stormed the police station in Kingston, Ont.

And in Vancouver police took a half-hour to break up a gang of youths in a melee which resulted in a woman being pushed through a store window.

SIX ARRESTED

In Kingston, six soldiers were arrested after a mob of 300 stormed the police station in the city hall.

The mob objected to the arrest of a soldier after a disturbance on a downtown street corner and followed the police erupting to the station.

Police finally dispersed the crowd by firing a teargas pellet into its midst.

LIFT CARS

The Kamloops mob lifted cars from the street and man-handled them onto sidewalks. Firemen returning from a minor call were pelted with eggs.

The violence started when teenage crowds gathered downtown after a children's party in a park celebrating the city's 150th birthday.

Boy Sacrifices Toes To Save His Sister

WINNIPEG (UPI) — Albert Bohle, 13, sacrificed two toes to save his sister's life.

Recovering in hospital Wednesday, he told how it happened.

He and Marcia, 9, were crossing CPR tracks in central Winnipeg to catch in empty beer bottles they had collected.

With them were their brother Leonard, 9, and Kirk Bonin, 9.

"Each of us was carrying a case and Kirk told us he knew a shortcut over the train tracks."

The children started to crawl under a motionless string of boxcars and Albert went through first.

"When I got to the other side I heard a noise and saw the train starting to move."

Marcia was still underneath and she could have been killed so I jumped back and grabbed her."

He put his foot on the track for leverage.

I couldn't get my foot away in time. That's the last time I'm going to cash any bottles."

Albert said he didn't feel a thing. It wasn't until his mother, Mrs. Blanche Belisle, took off his shoe that his injury was discovered.

MISSILES ALL OUT BY FRIDAY

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant returned from his Cuban peace mission Wednesday night and declared he was reliably informed all Soviet missiles would be dismantled by Friday and out of Cuba soon afterwards.

The secretary-general, however, apparently had failed in his efforts to get Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to agree to any form of UN inspection to verify the removal of the missiles.

Thant's chartered plane touched down at New York's Idlewild Airport amid developments which indicated the Cuban crisis had taken a critical turn.

In his airport statement Thant made no mention of his apparent rebuff by Castro. He stressed the dismantling of the Soviet missile bases and plans for withdrawal of the missiles.

Shortly before Thant's return, the White House announced that the U.S. naval arms quarantine of Cuba would be reinstated this morning and aerial surveillance of the Soviet missile sites in Cuba would start again.

In what seemed to be another emergency move, the Soviet Union sent Anastas Mikoyan, first Soviet deputy premier, on a hurried trip to Cuba via London and New York. He is due in Havana Friday.

Thant described his talks in Havana as "fruitful." He said

UN Demands Constitution Be Annulled

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly voted overwhelmingly Wednesday night to demand annulment of Southern Rhodesia's constitution on grounds that it discriminated against Africans.

The 61-in-two vote came just three minutes before 3 p.m. PST, when Southern Rhodesia's prime minister Sir Edgar Whitehead, declared the constitution, adopted in 1961, went into force.

The assembly asked Britain and Acting Secretary-General U Thant to intervene, annul the constitution and arrange for a new one which would give greater political rights to the 3,000,000 Negroes in the British territory.

Supporters of the measure said race violence would flare higher unless the Negroes obtained more than 15 seats in the 65-seat legislature. The other 50 seats would go to representatives of the 250,000 European settlers in the area.

Britain insisted in debates that have continued here for a year that Southern Rhodesia has been a self-governing territory since 1923 and that Britain could not interfere in Southern Rhodesia affairs.

Welensky's Party

Challenged at Polls

LUSAKA (Reuters) — Negro Kenneth Kaunda, leader of the United National Independence Party, has won his seat in the Northern Rhodesian general election with a big majority over the African National Congress opponent.

With more than half the 44 seats decided following Tuesday's voting, the results Wednesday showed a close race between the UNIP and federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky's United Federal Party.

Other parties were trailing far behind.

The UFP won 12 predominant ly white contests for the 15 "upper roll" seats in the 65-member legislature. The UNIP has already won nine of the 15 "lower roll" seats which consist almost entirely of Negro voters.

LFP officials were encouraged by the surprise defeat—in a predominantly Negro district of Solomon Kalula, national chairman of Kaunda's UNIP.
